Mayor Leeming, Back In Canada, Voices Bond Hopes

On Arrival in Quebec From London He Expresses Confidence of Agreement on Some Adjustment of Interest at Lower Rate

Goes to Toronto For Discussions

Canadian Press
Quebec, Nov. 6.—Mayor David Leeming of Victoria said today on his arrival here from England he was confident some adjustment would be made with bondholders' representatives in England for readjustment of Victoria's municipal bonds.

The mayor, who went to England to negotiate for a conversion of the city's bonds at a lower rate of interest, spoke optimistically of the prospect of some mutual agreement being made towards this end.

"Because we adopted orthodox methods and used common sense in our approach to the problem, we had a very friendly reception from the bondholders' representatives in England and are hopeful some adjustment will be made," he said.

ON WAY TO TORONTO

Mayor Leeming, who left for Montreal soon after the arrival of the liner Empress of Britain, will meet a Canadian committee of bondholders in Toronto before returning to Victoria. That committee which already has been in communication with a similar committee in England will continue the negotiations.

Comptroller J. A. Macdonald of Victoria, who accompanied Mr. Leeming on his mission to London and returned with him on the liner, is traveling with the mayor.

KING HOPES TO VISIT CANADA

Invitation From Prime Minister, But No Plans Yet For Next Year

Canadian Press
Quebec, Nov. 6.—Prime Minister King said here today that during his recent visit in London he had expressed the hope to King Edward that His Majesty would visit Canada, and the King had assured him he was looking forward to coming to the Dominion again as soon as official duties would permit. He must first visit India.

The Prime Minister arrived here today on the liner Empress of Britain after several weeks spent in Europe. NO PLANS YET MADE

London, Nov. 6.—Authoritative quarters, recalling that Prime Minister King had an audience with the King during his visit here, considered it probable today that during the talk a visit by His Majesty to Canada at some future time had been discussed.

But it was learned that no definite plans have been made up to the present for a visit to the Dominion next year.

Mr. King, returning to Canada aboard the liner Empress of Britain, indicated the King was planning a visit to Canada soon after his coronation next May.

Authoritative sources said any visit to Canada would be made after His Majesty's visit to India, which will take place following the coronation. Also it was said if the King went to Canada the visit necessarily would be followed by visits to each of the other Dominions.

PREMIER KING RETURNS HOME

No Canadian Arms Pledge Given, He Says on Arrival at Quebec

By C. B. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Quebec, Nov. 6.—Canada has made no commitments for Empire defence, Prime Minister King declared on his arrival here today aboard the liner Empress of Britain after nearly two months abroad, where he attended the League of Nations Assembly in Geneva and conferred with British government officials in London.

The Prime Minister said he had read reports in Canadian newspapers of enlarged defence force plans for Canada and described them as "quite misleading."

While in London, said Mr. King, he had discussed defence matters from the world-wide angle, but had not taken up particularly the question of either Canadian or Empire defence.

DISCUSSION AT OTTAWA

Canadian defence had been fully discussed among his colleagues before he left for Europe, the Prime Minister told newspapermen who traveled up the St. Lawrence River from Father Point, Que., with him.

"I want to make it clear that as far as the government is concerned, it is watching all phases of our national economy," the Prime Minister declared. "That includes unemployment, agriculture and many other problems, including defence. It is wholly incorrect to say I discussed abroad the matter of Canadian defence as such."

CALL FOR AID

Associated Press
Moscow, Nov. 6.—The Communist International called on the workers of all countries today to give "actual aid" to the Spanish people who are standing by the Madrid government.

Madrid Troops Recapture Town

Canadian Press From Havas
Madrid, Nov. 6.—The war minister tonight said that government troops had recaptured Navalcarnero, twenty miles south-west of this capital and to the rear of the main rebel forces closing in on Madrid.

RECRUITS ATTACKED

Five insurgent fighting planes, bearing the marks of government patrol craft, swooped low over Castellana Boulevard during the morning, their machine guns spitting at columns of drilling militia recruits.

The recruits threw themselves to the ground and only a few were wounded. The government said two more insurgent warplanes had been shot down in the Alcala de Henares and Leganes sectors during the morning.

BUILDINGS SHAKEN

The terrific artillery duel west and south of the city shook Madrid buildings and shattered windows.

The crash of shells was heard throughout the capital as government troops holding front-line trenches 1½ miles west of the Cuatro Vientos airport and insurgents entrenched at Alcorcon hammered away at each other with heavy cannon.

Government authorities said the Madrid counter-offensive had produced marked results.

WOMEN FIGHT

Women of Madrid marched to war today shoulder to shoulder with their men in a "human wall" against the Fascist onslaught.

HUNDRED REPORTERS THERE

The court hearing drew about 100 photographers and reporters from Canada and the United States and as far away as London, England.

Anyone—stork—derby-minded or not—who entered the law building premises was photographed from a dozen different angles in news reels, after which efforts were made to learn who the victim was.

CAMERA MEN TOO SLOW

Mrs. Lily Kenny, who claims eleven babies during the ten-year race, provided the first fireworks of the pre-court proceedings as she was spotted by newspapermen galloping down University Avenue at the west side of Osgoode Hall.

"Let Us Have Confidence..."

HON. JOHN HART, Minister of Finance

Concluding a summary of business gains in his budget speech in the Legislature today, Mr. Hart said: "Let us have confidence in our ability to solve problems. Let us take hope from the progress of the past three years. Let us turn a deaf ear to monetary nostrums, and remember that only by economy and industry can we bring about that prosperity which should be ours by virtue of our vast resources."

Insurgents' Artillery Drops Shells in Outskirts of Spain's Capital City

Associated Press
Madrid, Nov. 6.—Madrid's last-ditch fighting men and women pushed back a Fascist thrust from suburban Carabanchel this afternoon while insurgent shells battered the capital's edges.

Insurgent reports of a revolt in the streets of Madrid were flatly denied.

Pastor troops penetrated the Madrid side of Carabanchel, four miles to the south, in furious fighting early today. Later, however, they were reported to have retired under a heavy government bombardment and counter-offensive.

A survey indicated the centre of Madrid, up to 3.45 p.m., was unharmed by the insurgents' shelling, although the outskirts again were being blasted by the Fascist guns.

Five insurgent fighting planes, bearing the marks of government patrol craft, swooped low over Castellana Boulevard during the morning, their machine guns spitting at columns of drilling militia recruits.

The recruits threw themselves to the ground and only a few were wounded. The government said two more insurgent warplanes had been shot down in the Alcala de Henares and Leganes sectors during the morning.

Parliament To Meet in January

Canadian Press
Quebec, Nov. 6.—The Dominion Parliament will be called early in the new year, Prime Minister King said today on his arrival here after a two-month trip abroad. The date will be one of the matters he will take up soon with his colleagues.

The Prime Minister said he hoped to attend the coronation of King Edward VIII next May and added he would shortly announce details of the plans for a Canadian delegation to the ceremonies.

Provincial Government to Take Back Charges Placed on Cities in 1932, Finance Minister Tells House; Total Appropriations Raised Over $2,000,000 as Revenues Swell

Additional $400,000 For Roads But No Taxation Increases

After March 31, next year, social service costs amounting to $691,000 a year will be transferred from the backs of municipal taxpayers to the provincial treasury.

This was the main announcement in the budget speech of Hon. John Hart, B.C. Minister of Finance, as he appeared before the Legislature this afternoon for the twelfth time in his political career to present the financial estimates.

Financial relief will be given to municipalities to this extent, and provincial expenditures will be increased another $1,500,000 without raising taxes, the finance minister said as he presented a budget full of optimism and confidence in British Columbia's future.

Pledging himself to a sound money policy, Mr. Hart declared:

"Let us have confidence in our ability to solve our problems. Let us take hope from the progress of the past three years. Let us turn a deaf ear to monetary nostrums, and remember that only by economy and industry can we bring about that prosperity which should be ours by virtue of our vast resources."

The municipalities will be assisted, Mr. Hart said, by removing from them the following costs: 50 per cent of mothers' pensions, which would amount to $264,000; 50 cents a day for municipal patients in mental hospitals, totalling $339,000; 80 cents a day for municipal cases in industrial homes, totalling $14,000, and $1.25 a day for patients in the Tranquille tuberculosis sanatorium, which would amount to $90,000.

VICTORIA RELIEF $60,000

Victoria, he said, will benefit to the extent of $60,000 in the first year, Vancouver $360,000, New Westminster $32,500 and Nanaimo $11,500.

The total increase in provincial expenditure will be $2,198,000, to be met by an anticipated increase in revenue of $2,156,800 without any change in taxation. He budgeted for a surplus of $78,746 on his operating account, which does not provide for unemployment relief costs nor for all of the sinking funds.

He proposed an increase in the annual appropriation for maintenance of roads by $400,000, an additional $100,000 for forest protection, a larger vote for health services, an additional $50,000 for the University of British Columbia and the restoration of all salary cuts in the civil service.

At the same time he revealed that the province will likely finish the current fiscal year with a surplus of more than $1,000,000 on its operating account, and drew attention to a $2,619,000 surplus achieved in the 1935-36 fiscal year ending on March 31.

These surpluses, he stressed, were on revenue account, and did not include provision for unemployment relief, for which the funds are borrowed from Ottawa, nor the setting up of all the sinking funds.

The restoration of salary cuts for civil servants covers only those earning over $1,800 a year. Employees earning less than that were given a full restoration in the spring. The higher brackets got a partial restoration then.

RECOVERY MARCH

Along with his financial statistics and estimates, Mr. Hart presented a picture of British Columbia's recovery from the depression, with production of basic industries increased by 61 per cent in three years, bank debits 38 per cent better and unemployment lists at a new low mark.

His figures on the public debt showed that as between November 1, 1935, and October 1 of this year, there had been actually a reduction of $236,913 in the net debt, although he explained that a $2,400,000 relief loan is pending at Ottawa and will have to be added eventually.

Expanding business has sent provincial revenues from existing taxation to a new high level, the finance minister announced, and they will reach an even higher mark in the next fiscal year.

Because the municipal situation was the chief reason for holding the fall session, Mr. Hart discussed their position at length.

"During the course of the current year, a committee, under the direction of Mr. Huntington Wallis, president of the Association of Municipal Affairs and myself, has been engaged in assembling comprehensive statistics dealing with the financial position of all municipalities in the province. When completed, the statistical analysis will serve as a valuable guide to the government in arriving at a solution."

Stocks Respond to Business Gains

New York, Nov. 6.—The business panorama glowed with news of higher wages, higher dividends, heavy freight movement, advancing prices for metals and advanced securities today.

Copper rose to the highest price in six years, a few stocks reaching new tops since 1929 or 1930.

Columbia Steel Company, U.S. Steel's Pacific Coast subsidiary, announced a 10 per cent wage increase for its 5,000 workers, as negotiations for wage adjustments for the remainder of more than 200,000 U.S. Steel workers went on in Pittsburgh.

Chrysler Corporation, in Detroit, announced a $4,000,000 bonus for some 67,000 employees, to be paid the week of December 14.

THURF PLAN

After announcing the dividend declaration, President Teague also disclosed the company was making a special contribution of $4,500,000 to the corporation's thrift plan for employees, in addition to its regular contribution to the plan.

In Chicago, the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana ordered an extra dividend of 25 cents, a total of some $18,500,000.

The stock market ran into profit-taking selling after the sharp rise of the past two days, but not until several issues had reached new recovery tops.

No Changes in Taxes Next Year

Hon. John Hart, finance minister, gave the House good news today in his budget speech when he announced:

"Industry and business generally will be glad to know that it is not proposed to increase taxation."

The government, he said, felt that the dual taxation on incomes, provincial and federal, is too heavy a burden and is pressing to have the Dominion vacate the income tax field.

British Columbia, he said, is the third largest contributor among the provinces to the Dominion treasury in income taxes. In the nine months ending last September 30, the Dominion collected $5,639,289.64 from income taxes in this province, which was more than twice as much as paid in the three maritime provinces and $1,600,000 more than the combined taxes paid by the three prairie provinces.

British Columbia, a young province, pays federal income taxes at the rate of 85.12 per cent as much as the provinces pay only 37.73 and the maritime 22.55.

Wheat Exports At High Level

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Canada's wheat exports in October reached the highest value since December, 1928, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. A total of 26,917,996 bushels were shipped out of the country last month with a total value of $28,949,549, an average price of $1.07 a bushel. The record monthly shipment was in November, 1928, when 25,235,221 bushels valued at $29,235,221 were cleared.

EDEN SPEECH CAUSES STIR

France Openly Pleased at British Statement of Policy; Italy Disappointed

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Nov. 6.—Europe today gave a mixed reception to the statement on British foreign policy by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in the House of Commons yesterday.

France was openly pleased. In Paris Mr. Eden accomplished the apparently impossible task of equally pleasing the right wing newspaper Le Jour and the left wing paper L'Humanite.

ITALY'S ATTITUDE
Italy was disappointed. The fact that Mr. Eden practically ignored Premier Mussolini's Milan speech was regarded as a rebuff. Italy considers assurances of friendship are not enough. She wants a definite entente.

Germany followed the speech with intense interest, but she reserved comment. Germany, it is explained, has no desire to disrupt Britain's friendships with other powers so long as these friendships are not aimed at gripping Germany by a throat. Hungary considered the speech served the purpose of peace.

PLAIN SPEAKING

Approval of the speech also was voiced in several British newspapers. The London Daily Herald, Labor called it "an excellent piece of plain speaking, for it is a direct and deserved snub to the German invitation to Great Britain to co-operate in the fascist drive against the Soviet Union."

Germans Under New Code Will Pay in Proportion to Means

Associated Press
Berlin, Nov. 6.—Germans will pay fines proportionate to their pocket-books under the new penal code disclosed yesterday by Minister of Justice Franz Guertner and legal experts.

The code is based on the theory fines should not be absolute but should be related to earning power of the offender.

Thus, instead of the fine being fixed at 500 marks for a particular offence, a court may assess an offender five days' income. In the case of a wealthy man this might be 500 marks, while for a poor man it might be but 30.

DENIES REPORT ON SANCTIONS

Neville Chamberlain Says Move Against Japan Not Discussed in 1932

Canadian Press From Havas
London, Nov. 6.—A passage from "The Far Eastern Crisis," recently published by Henry L. Stimson, United States Secretary of State in the former Hoover cabinet, was challenged yesterday evening by Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, as "not in accord with the facts as they are known to the government."

Mr. Chamberlain reserved his criticism, however, on the possibility the quotation, read in the course of yesterday's debate in the House of Commons by Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, might not have been accurate.

According to the passage read by Mr. Mander, Mr. Stimson asserted that in February, 1932, he had suggested to Sir John Simon, then British Foreign Secretary, that sanctions be imposed on Japan. The United States Secretary of State wrote he had found Sir John and the British Government entirely unwilling to participate in such action, according to Mr. Mander's quotation.

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 6.—While Justice Department agents sought Congressman John H. Hoepf and his son, Charles, as "fugitives from justice," a federal attorney planned today to ask forfeiture of their bail bonds.

The federal agents were put on the trail of the missing Californians after marshals had failed to locate them in Washington, Arcadia, Calif., and Evansville, Ind.

Convicted of conspiring to sell a West Point appointment to Jimmie W. Fox of Baltimore for $10,000, the Hoepfs are wanted for commitment to jail. The Supreme Court recently refused to review their case.

Hayer camped the northland winter flying season late yesterday when he left Edmonton for the mining camp on the north shore of Great Slave Lake.

Associated Press
Paris, Nov. 6.—Charges by Communists that fascists were attempting to influence the army against the government were countered today by fascist allegations that Communists were responsible for demonstrations at naval arsenals.

Each faction demanded quick measures to put an end to what was described as "danger to the public peace." The charges were scheduled for debate in the Senate this afternoon.

Labor Protest On Beheading

British M.P.'s Give Views on Execution of E. Andre, Communist, in Germany

Associated Press
London, Nov. 6.—A group of Labor members of Parliament today protested to Berlin's Wilhelmstrasse the execution of the Communist Edgar Andre at Hamburg, Germany, Wednesday.

The Labor group, headed by Rt. Hon. Arthur Greenwood and Ellen C. Wilkinson, expressed regret "at the effect such an execution must have on relations between Germany and Great Britain."

SHOUTS IN COURT

A woman who threw a brick through a window of the German Embassy last night in protest against the execution today cried: "We don't want these Nazi murderers!" when arraigned in the Bow Street police court.

The defendant, Ruth Ellen Gaster, was released on probation after she had admitted she smashed the window on reading of the "cold-blooded murder of Andre."

DONE AS PROTEST
"I did it as a protest," she said. "The people of this government wine and dine with Ribbentrop (Joseph von Ribbentrop, new German ambassador to Great Britain). Ribbentrop must be shown we do not want these Nazi murderers!"

Harold Morris, who, police testified, stood in Piccadilly Circus last night, crying: "Drive Ribbentrop, the fascist ambassador out of Britain; the Germans have murdered Andre!" was fined forty shillings (about $10).

As he left the court he cried: "The fascists have murdered Andre! They are now prepared to murder Thaelmann" (Ernest Thaelmann, German Communist leader now in prison).

SENT UP FOR TRIAL

David Lloyd Wilson, a Communist, was bound over for trial after testifying he had shouted, "The Nazis murdered a man, that's what they have done!"

Wilson later was fined forty shillings. The three were arrested while a crowd was in front of the German Embassy.

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Nov. 6.—Foreign Secretary Eden was taken to task in the House of Commons yesterday for having expressed his regret to Joachim von Ribbentrop over a speech in which the Communist M.P., William Gallacher, had called the German ambassador an envoy "whose hands are red with murder."

Gallacher raised the issue and was backed up by Ernest Thurtle, Labor member for Shrewsbury. His Communist colleague had cried in only one detail, Thurtle said, declaring: "He attributed the crime of murder to the Ambassador of Germany when he should have attributed it to the government he represented."

RIGHT IS QUESTIONED
"What right has the Foreign Secretary to apologize for anything that might say?" Gallacher asked the Speaker at the end of question time, apropos of von Ribbentrop's protest to Eden.

Will Thorne, Labor, asked if it was not true von Ribbentrop had attacked the Communists—a duly constituted British party—on his arrival in Great Britain. The Speaker advised the House the incident was closed, observing he had given his ruling only as a "point of order."

Ambassador von Ribbentrop was believed to have established a diplomatic precedent by protesting Gallacher's remarks at the Foreign Office. Secretary Eden was reported to have expressed his unofficial regrets, but explained he could not prevent a Member of Parliament from speaking his mind in open debate.

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Nov. 6.—President Roosevelt was praised in the House of Commons yesterday by Morgan Philip Price, Labor, who referred to his re-election as "one of the most heartening things that could have happened."

A person of magnetic personality has been able to get greater political authority than all the dictators put together," Price declared. "We can look forward to the United States playing some role in trying to reduce international anarchy into some kind of international order."

Stork Derby Has Its Day in Court in Ontario Capital

She disappeared before anyone could start in pursuit. No one seemed to know why or where she was bound.

One man almost created a panic by crossing the grounds with the tail of his heavy grey coat covering his face. But he was well photographed. He slipped on the front steps of Osgoode Hall and was identified as Giovanni Amodeo, whose wife claims seven babies in the baby derby.

QUESTIONS ASKED

Inside the century-old court building, Mr. Justice Middleton of the Ontario Court of Appeal presided over the hearing. Executives of the Miller estate are seeking to have him determine of the clause in the will leaving his fortune to the most children in the ten years following his death October 31, 1926, is valid.

It is, the executors ask him to decide the winner. If, however, the clause is invalid, they want the beneficiaries determined.

TWO MOTHERS IN COURT

Mrs. Kenny and Mrs. Grace Bagatto, both contenders, were present in the courtroom, where W. E. N. Tilley, K.C. of Toronto, representing the executors, outlined the case and asked direction towards disposal of the estate.

Mrs. Tilley was followed by I. E. Hellmuth, K.C., representing Alexander Butcher and Arabella West of Port Burwell, Ont. Relatives of Miller they seek to upset the baby race clause.

SOME STAYED AT HOME

Mrs. Kenny and Mrs. Bagatto were the only contenders who attended today's hearing. A score or more of counsel representing the contesting mothers and relatives of Miller who seek to upset the will popped up all over the little room during the hearing and made their position known to the court.

C. R. Magone, solicitor in the Ontario Attorney-General's department, sought a five-weeks' adjournment. George T. Walsh, representing Mrs. Lily Kenny, who claims eleven children were born to her in the ten-year period although only nine are registered, suggested that an adjournment for five weeks would mean the Ontario Legislature might then be in session and asked that the procedure be speeded up.

SEVENTEEN CLAIMANTS

New names of claimants to the fortune were introduced, but only that of Mrs. Kathleen Barker ranked with the present so-called leaders. She claims nine births. In all seventeen names were placed before the court.

C. R. McKeown, counsel for Mrs. Pauline Clark, who claims ten children eligible under the will, five of them born out of wedlock, brought up the question of whether one of the ten, born outside the city limits in Scarborough township, should not be counted.

He indicated his line of action would be that Miller meant Greater Toronto, since when Miller died he himself lived just outside the city limits in Scarborough township.

DIVISIONS SEEN

Division among those seeking to upset the will cropped up. The claims of J. A. Root of California, Alexander Butcher and Arabella West of Port Burwell, Ont., were opposed by lawyers for Boxy Miller and two new contestants of the will, Dr. J. L. Huffman of London, Ont., and C. L. Huffman, Forest, Ont.

The Huffmans and Boxy Miller were aligned against the others, George habit will not be broken during the next four years."

SEEK NEW NRA

Return of the President to the capital found powerful United States labor groups, who backed him so strongly for re-election, pressing for new legislation reminiscent of the NRA's aims, and for a major change in the Social Security Act.

American Federation of Labor chiefs tentatively mapped plans to ask the next Congress to shift the whole social security payroll tax to employers, instead of collecting part of it from workers as provided in the present law.

TO REDUCE UNEMPLOYMENT

It is expected the President will give renewed attention to the problem of unemployment. In the effort to cut unemployment, the administration is expected by some informed observers to make a new move to attain certain NRA objectives.

Speculation as to what this move would be ranged today all the way from a proposal to amend the constitution to an attempt to obtain the Supreme Court's approval of some new plan designed to raise and stabilize wages, shorten "over-long" hours and ban "unfair" trade practices.

LEAD NEARS 10,000,000

With more than 12,000 election districts still unreported, the Roosevelt popular majority was near the 10,000,000 mark today. It stood at 25,909,548 to 14,049,201 for Governor Alf M. Landon, Republican.

The line-up in the new Congress convening January 3 will be: Senate—Democrats seventy-five, Republicans seventeen, Farmer-Laborites two, Progressives one, Independent one. Total 96.

ON CANADIAN SHIPS

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 6.—Col. O. F. Ohlson, manager of the Alaska Railroad, said today the Post Office Department had completed arrangements which would prevent interruption in regular mail service to the territory as a result of the Pacific Coast maritime strike.

Canadian ships will carry mail from Vancouver, B.C., to Juneau, and U.S. coast guard cutters from Juneau to Seward, Kodiak Island communities and other Alaska points, Ohlson said.

Seattle Cracker Makers Strike

Seattle, Nov. 6.—The Cracker and Confectionery Workers' Union, local 23, called a strike to start at 5 p.m. today in four cracker manufacturing plants here. It was stated the strike would affect 300 men and women.

New College Head Installed

Canadian Press
Truro, N.S., Nov. 6.—Lyman T. Chapman, agricultural extension worker and former editor of The New West Farmer, was inaugurated as principal of the Nova Scotia Agricultural College today.

In 1929 Mr. Chapman was instrumental in introducing the "master farmer" movement in Canada and last year he was elected a fellow of the Royal Society for the encouragement of arts, manufactures and commerce. His wife was formerly Miss K. Bryden, who for a time was in newspaper work in Edmonton.

NEW EFFORT TO END PORT STRIKE

The President announced at a press conference this morning that he would consult with the Secretary and the commission this afternoon.

NO LOADING

Associated Press
Seattle, Nov. 6.—Striking maritime unions here stood firm today in refusing to let ships sail for Alaska or unload food there and described a reported approaching food shortage as "imaginary."

In Seattle, the waterfront was quiet. At Anchorage, Alaska, hotels were jammed, many strike-bound persons sleeping in corridors and on floors. A crowd gathered to watch the last federal-owned Alaska Railroad train leave for Fairbanks before suspension took effect because of the maritime strike.

BRING FRIENDSHIP TO BUSINESS

—not BUSINESS to friendship

Friendship in business is admirable—but when a friend is named executor because of friendship, that is a different matter.

The friend may lack experience in caring for an estate.

Succession Duty and Tax requirements would prove perplexing. The estate might suffer undue shrinkage during the administration.

It is decidedly more economical to have a financially-responsible Trust Company as executor.

Talking Crow Causes Flurry

Detroit Boy's Pet Bird Flies Away After Crowing Number of People to Doubt
Their Senses

Associated Press
Detroit, Nov. 6.—Buddie Blagburn's pet talking crow was out of the house today and a number of Detroit people felt relieved to know that "the raven" they saw and heard was not all an illusion.

First to see the saucy bird, which flew off a few days ago after its clipped wings had grown out, was an elderly matron who said, "Shoo," to a crow on the sidewalk and it replied, "Aw, shut up."

As the bewildered woman hurried around the crow, it called out, "Hey, where are the scraps? What, no eat?"

Then there was the jittery voice which telephoned police: "Listen, I just saw a crow talking out a cat. The cat looked sorry, and the crow kept yelling, 'Shame, shame!'"

Another jolt was received by a man who jumped out of bed, positive he had heard a baby crying under his window. All he saw was a crow perched on the porch roof, and, perched on the thought of Edgar Allan Poe's symbolical raven.

Buddie, whose father found the crow in a nest two years ago and named it Jim, said the tongue is not split, as with some talking crows, and that it started talking when it echoed his father, who told the "crowing" bird to "shut up."

"I don't know what Jim will do," Buddie sighed. "Other birds won't have anything to do with him. I've noticed that around here."

Buddie still hopes somebody will catch and return his pet.

Ex-detective's Suit Dismissed

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 6.—Claim of former Detective David A. McGregor against the City of Vancouver for $350 salary was dismissed with costs in County Court by Judge Hovey yesterday.

A member of the city police force twenty-six years, McGregor was suspended on September 6, 1935, and dismissed on November 14. He claimed pay for the time of his suspension.

The judge held the officer's wages ceased on his suspension.

Court to Rule On Picketing

Associated Press
McCleary, Wash., Nov. 6.—Quiet reigned here today while the whole town awaited the outcome of a court hearing in Montesano on whether pickets would be prevented from remaining on duty at the McCleary Timber Company's mill.

The company charged the mill was picketed by union members who engaged in a fight with state patrolmen and mill workers Wednesday night. The company also said the employees did not wish to affiliate with the union.

Labor officials protested vigorously to Governor Martin against the use of thirty state patrolmen in quelling Wednesday night's violence, in which several were hurt. The patrolmen dispersed the fighting with tear gas.

TOWNSENDERS CLAIM GAINS

Associated Press
Chicago, Nov. 6.—Leaders of the Townsend National Recovery Plan, the old age pension movement, fostered by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, claim that at least sixty-six congressmen and senators elected Tuesday will vote for the Townsend movement.

At least that many listed as favorable leaders said today, were assured of their seats. The group includes thirty-seven Democrats, fourteen Republicans, ten Progressives and five Farmer-Laborites.

Ten congressmen were listed from California.

Consider Plans For Coronation

Duncan, Nov. 6.—Public bodies in the Duncan district are making preparations for the commemoration of the coronation of King Edward VIII next May.

A public meeting, at which all organizations in the Cowichan district are expected to be represented, will be called toward the end of November to discuss plans for the celebration.

NO ORDERS FOR PLANES

Ottawa, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—Lieut.-Col. L. R. LaFleche, Deputy Minister of National Defence, yesterday said there was no truth in rumors the Dominion Government had placed or was contemplating the placing of orders for new fighting airplanes.

Mongols Rally With Chinese

Reports Say Men of Inner Mongolia Refuse to Deal With Japanese

Associated Press
Kueinai, Inner Mongolia, Nov. 6.—Mongols in Suiyuan Province are rallying behind the Chinese government, refusing to deal with Japanese agents who cross the border from Chahar Province, informed observers believe.

"Mongolia for the Mongolians" has long been the dream of Mongol leaders, whose ancestors once dominated the largest empire the world has ever known.

Actual independence for the Mongols seems out of the question. Outer Mongolia on the north is already under the control of Soviet Russia.

Manchukuo to the east and the Hopedai-Chahar area of north China brings Japanese influences to Inner Mongolia's front door.

Today this region finds itself sandwiched between the mounting animosities of Japan and Soviet Russia, with Chinese influences hanging precariously in the balance.

JAPANESE EFFORTS
Mongol leaders declare continuous efforts are being made by Japanese military agents to convert Inner Mongolia into a buffer state between North China and Sovietized Outer Mongolia.

The Japanese have issued orders, some Mongol leaders declare, that all Mongols who received "relief" from the Japanese last winter must move to concentration camps. Ninety per cent of the cattle and sheep in the district are estimated to have perished in the coldest winter in memory.

Japanese assert Japanese "relief" achieved the effect of securing a lien on the property of every man who accepted the aid.

NEW ENGLANDERS EAT B.C. APPLES

Canadian Press
Vernon, B.C., Nov. 6.—Shortage of apples in the New England States has resulted in large New York orders being placed for McIntosh reds in the Okanagan district.

David McNair, sales manager of the Association Growers, said yesterday his organization had filled orders for twenty carloads which were now going out and more inquiries were being received.

Britain Seeking Balance In Pacts

U.S. DICTATORSHIP CHARGE IS HEARD

Associated Press
New Orleans, Nov. 6.—Gerald L. K. Smith said yesterday his arrest on election eve foreshadowed revenge to be leveled on the critics of the United States government by what he called "the Farley dictatorship."

Smith, former organizer of Share Our Wealth clubs for the late U.S. Senator Huey Long, yesterday received a suspended sentence of $10 or ten days. He was convicted of disturbing the peace, reviling police and using obscene language. Four companions arrested with him were similarly sentenced.

"This arrest and incarceration is just a forerunner of the reprisals which we may expect all over America as the Farley dictatorship seeks revenge on those who have been critical of its regime," he said.

Smith and his companions were taken into custody after a mass meeting at which he had criticized state and national administrations and reported an alleged plan to run 25,000,000 barrels of illegally produced oil out of Louisiana.

Canadian Legion California Event

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Nov. 6.—A great pre-Armistice Day ball will be held here Saturday night under sponsorship of the southern California command of the Canadian Legion, which has about 15,000 members in this area, leaders announced today.

Joining in the affair are the British societies and British Empire service organizations of southern California.

The proceeds will go to the "Last Post" fund which the Legion maintains to finance burial of veterans who die here without means. The programme includes Scottish dances, musical entertainment, cards, dancing and refreshments.

Pay Raises at Ontario Mines

Canadian Press
Timmins, Ont., Nov. 6.—The management of Hollinger Gold Mines announced an increase of five cents an hour in the basic rate of wages at Hollinger, McIntyre and Dome Mines. Effective November 1, the increase was $100,000 to the camp's annual payroll.

The announcement said that, anticipating enactment of a proposal of the government to institute a forty-eight-hour week, steps would be taken by the three mines to operate on that basis as soon as arrangements could be made.

SAVES DEMOCRACY BEST
Apparently well, and refreshed by his visit abroad, the Prime Minister declared himself more than ever convinced that democracy was the best form of government.

In Europe, Mr. King said, he had found an apparent move away from economic nationalism and a growing belief that best way to peace among nations was by means of free intercourse. He was convinced "each nation should mind its own affairs meanwhile exerting goodwill for peace."

BRITAIN AIDS PEACE
The Prime Minister said he had found defence and warlike preparations were not the paramount interest in England and "their minds seem quite comfortable in that respect."

His meeting with King Edward VIII and with all members of the British government left the Canadian Prime Minister convinced Great Britain at least was determined to keep peace if at all possible. Increasing prosperity was evident in Great Britain, Mr. King said.

KING TO VISIT CANADA
The Prime Minister said he had expressed the hope to King Edward that His Majesty would visit Canada, and the King had assured him he was looking forward to coming to the Dominion again as soon as official duties would permit. He must first visit India.

"My visit was most interesting and profitable in every way," Mr. King told the reporters. "Europe is so riled with confusion and uncertainty that one cannot get a real understanding of the situation without going there."

INTERFERENCE DANGEROUS
"I came away from Geneva convinced it is a good thing for each country to mind its own affairs," said Mr. King, who headed Canada's delegation to the League of Nations Assembly. "It is very unwise for one country to set itself up in judgment of the actions of another. I think the policy adopted among the countries of the empire in that respect might well be followed by the world at large."

"I don't think any country wants war and I am certain Great Britain will keep out of war if it is at all possible. That was the feeling ex-

Nation Limits Obligations to Western Europe, But Favors Pact For Eastern Region, Says Chancellor of Exchequer Cham- berlain

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 6.—Great Britain will give neither Germany nor any other country a free hand in eastern Europe in exchange for co-operation in the west.

This was indicated by Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, when he was winding up the debate on foreign affairs in the House of Commons yesterday evening. He declared Britain was not prepared to participate in an eastern pact and would confine her actual obligations to such regional pacts as concerned her vital interests, always with such pacts subject to the country's general obligations under the League of Nations Covenant.

But, he added, Britain would not be indifferent to eastern Europe, would allow no other country to do what it liked in that region, and would not undertake not to interfere in any circumstances. Britain, however, favored negotiation of an eastern pact, he said, although she could undertake no commitments in connection with it.

CHURCHILL'S VIEWS
Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, one of a group of right wing Conservatives who requested the foreign affairs debate, blamed Soviet Russia for the trouble in Spain.

"But for Russian Communist intrigue, which for four months racked Spain before the outbreak, the Spanish horror would never have occurred," he said. "It would be quite impossible for the free nations of the western world to interest themselves in the fate of Russia if she continues to present herself in this guise."

LAST CHANCE SEEN
Mr. Churchill declared the next twelve or eighteen months might be Britain's last chance of averting a European conflict or even a world war.

He urged Britain stand by the League of Nations and try to bring into Geneva the largest possible number of peace-seeking but well-armed organizations to "overawe any potential aggressor."

He suggested if Germany feared Russian aggression the Reich should enter the League. Then, he declared, all Europe would guarantee to assist Germany against the Soviet invader.

Mr. Churchill said if the exertions of Britain were not supported proportionately by others, and collective security should turn out to be a fraud and the League an idle dream, then Britain and France together "will be very dangerous to attack, very hard to destroy."

He suggested the naval powers of the Mediterranean might reciprocally agree not to molest each other's sea communications.

pressed by the King, the Prime Minister and all members of the government.

"The tension in Europe seemed less when I left than when the League Assembly opened in September. There are many hopeful signs and I see no reason to fear that forces working for peace will not prevail."

LOWER TARIFF BARRIERS
Not only did he find a marked tendency away from economic nationalism among European nations, the Prime Minister said, but there was an apparent move to lower tariff barriers and gradually get rid of other forms of trade restrictions.

"There is a growing recognition that such restrictions are harmful and that the way out of present difficulties is through more intercourse between nations," he said.

FRIENDSHIP OF FRANCE
In France Mr. King was entertained by Premier Blum and the French Foreign Minister.

"The very friendly toward Canada and immensely appreciative of the Vimy visit," said the Prime Minister. "That pilgrimage left a more favorable impression everywhere. King Edward spoke to me about it and also Queen Mary, and they seemed immensely pleased."

TRADE PACT REVISION
With respect to the trade agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom, the Prime Minister said progress toward its revision had been made by Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, during their visit to London last summer.

Mr. King said he, too, had gone into the matter, but he could not say when agreement would be reached. It might not be discussed at the next session of Parliament. The present agreement will not expire until the fall of 1937.

MINISTERS IMPRESSED
The Prime Minister paid high tribute to Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, Dominion Secretary in the British Government. He was an able and efficient official and, Mr. King added, the British ministers had all spoken highly of the Canadian government members who had visited England during the summer.

Canada was on friendly relations with every nation represented at Geneva and it had been a pleasure for the Prime Minister to be there, he said. This friendliness, he said, was made possible by the removal, just before his departure for Europe, of restrictions against Russian imports in effect since 1931.

France, said Mr. King, was having her own difficulties with respect to markets and increased use of home-grown products, but he was convinced that if any additional imports of wheat were required by that country, Canada would share in the market.

Franco-Soviet Pact Attacked

Versailles Independent Senator Suggests Repudiation of Assistance Treaty

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Nov. 6.—Senator Henry-Haye, mayor of Versailles, placed before the Senate yesterday evening a proposal for French repudiation, or at least reconsideration, of the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact.

He asked the government to take the speediest possible action toward this end, giving the following reasons:

1. The accord was originally concluded under the theory it would consolidate France's position in Europe. It has had the opposite effect, and has in fact alienated many former allies, including Belgium.

2. The Soviet threat to intervene in Spain may draw France into a dangerous international situation.

3. The Soviet has failed to keep its pledge not to interfere in French domestic affairs.

4. The accord was framed with a view to including other powers within its framework. This hope has not materialized.

Henry-Haye is politically an independent.

Radicals Threaten Trouble at Eaters' Convention at Kalamazoo, Mich.

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Staff Writer
New York, Nov. 6.—Those who think political fireworks in the United States are over for the season had better stay away from Kalamazoo, Mich., and the annual convention tomorrow of the Union Anti-defamation Committee of America.

Maybe, persons who don't like unions had better stay away anyway. First, there is likely to be trouble when the radical minority in the organization, headed by Clarence Teters of Kimmell, Ind., battles the conservative majority over the question of suppressing union breath.

Secondly, there is a possibility of a holocaust when the new machine for testing the strength of union breath is demonstrated for the first time.

The machine, invented by Prof. Howard Haggard of Yale University, transforms the strength of union breath into heat, which in turn sets afire a piece of paper treated with chemicals.

STEVEDORE'S ACHIEVEMENT
One of the human guinea pigs in a recent test, a stevedore fresh from a luncheon of raw onion sandwiches, not only set the paper on fire, but melted several connections in the apparatus as well, causing delay in the experiments and forcing substitution of a less virulent breather.

The New York delegation is heavily on the conservative side, which advocates development of union breath removers, as against the radical element, which revels in onion odors, refuses to take preventive measures, and as a result has long given the onion a bad name in polite society.

WOLVES NEAR SEYMOUR FALLS

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 6.—A pack of five wolves is roaming the Vancouver watershed above Seymour Falls, less than ten miles from Vancouver, according to C. O. Stevenson, North Vancouver District game warden.

Warden Stevenson said three Greater Vancouver water district officials had sighted the pack on the trail five miles from Seymour Falls, the wolves passing less than fifty feet from them.

The animals, nearly black in color, are smaller than the northern timber wolves but larger than coyotes. It is believed they have drifted in from the Nanquam and Garibaldi areas, attracted by game on the closed Seymour and Capilano watersheds.

Warden Stevenson will urge the game department to organize an expedition to hunt the wolves.

Immigration To Palestine Cut

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Nov. 6.—Although the British Government will not suspend immigration into Palestine, it has decided "under the present circumstances" that immigration for the next six months shall be limited to 1,800 persons.

This was announced in the House of Commons yesterday by Colonial Secretary William Ormsby-Gore shortly after the royal commission, which will investigate Arab-Jewish problems, had left here for Marseilles to embark for Palestine, where they are due next Wednesday.

Figures announced by Mr. Ormsby-Gore compared with the schedule of 8,000 in April, 1935, 3,250 in October, 1935, and 4,800 April last.

Figures Do Not Lie

PERHAPS THE AVERAGE TAX payer does not display very much interest in his country's trade. It may be permitted to say that any member of the economic laity finds it a wee bit difficult to conjure up much enthusiasm about the outflow or the income of commodities, primary or secondary—the life-blood of trade—or their value to the family pocketbook.

Latest returns from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa, however, tell us that imports into Canada during the nine months ending September, amounted to $450,866,323, as compared with $403,036,316 in the same period of 1935 and $377,249,292 in 1934. The amount of our purchases from the United Kingdom was $89,430,693, as compared with $85,018,570 and $82,581,822. Imports from the United States was $265,706,867, as compared with $232,563,255 and $218,627,056.

Total exports during the nine months were valued at $685,161,023, as compared with $563,175,187 in the previous year and $540,859,166 two years ago. Exports to the United Kingdom were valued at $264,069,688 as against $196,132,122 and $208,092,500; exports to the United States were $275,872,996 as against $254,361,857 and $215,431,114 two years ago.

The most important thing about the United States total figure is that, for the first time since 1872, there is now a favorable balance of trade between Canada and our neighbor.

The fact that Canada has put herself in the black as far as the international fiscal ledger is concerned is very much to the good. But we shall have to get down to the fundamental, inexorable, economic law which means that to sell there must be the corresponding capacity and willingness to buy. Therefore, while for the first time since a few years in Confederation there is a favorable balance—in dollars and cents—with our neighbor, we will be called upon, by the same inexorable economic law, to make the adjustment between what we sell and what we buy.

The election of President Roosevelt, of course, would seem to insure permanency for the Canada-United States reciprocity pact which went into operation on the first day of this year. This pact, negotiated in 1935, already has been a bonanza for the Dominion. The proof of this lucrative business arrangement lies in the fact, as already pointed out, of a balance of trade between Canada and the United States in this country's favor. But let not this peculiar economic phenomena associated with the swapping of goods between neighbors on this North American Continent befuddle the issue between two stalwart nations which stand for sanity in universal economic relationship.

Yet, as far as Canada is concerned, there is some consolation in the fact that eleven millions of people are selling more to 130,000,000 of people than they are buying from them—relatively speaking. This is a fiscal exchange which will alter, automatically, from time to time.

Labor in New Zealand

IN NOVEMBER, 1935, THE LABOR Party took over the government of New Zealand, securing fifty-five out of eighty seats in a general election. Feeling itself equipped with a decisive mandate to put into force the Socialist programme it had promised, the new government proceeded to pass measures of far-reaching influence on the Dominion's economic and social life.

Reviewing the first year's record of the new government in the current issue of The Canadian Banker, J. A. Stevenson mentions the personal popularity and high reputation for honesty and fair-mindedness of Premier M. J. Savage as a large factor in his party's victory. There was a general disposition to give the new ministry a fair field in trying to cope with the country's difficulties.

Dealing with unemployment and labor problems, the government immediately bettered the lot of the unemployed by first giving them a generous Christmas bonus and then increasing the scale of sustenance payments and ordaining that in all work subsidized out of unemployment funds full standard wages must be paid. A new measure, the Employment Promotion Act, was passed, designed for the stimulation of industrial expansion rather than for emergency relief of distress. The principle of compulsory arbitration in industrial disputes has been restored. The Workers' Compensation, the Factories and the Shops and Offices Acts have been amended in a manner beneficial to the workers.

The government has also established public ownership of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand, buying out existing private shareholders at a price of $6.55, plus accrued dividends for each 25 share. The general functions of the Reserve Bank are now to give effect to the monetary policy of the government. The powers of the bank are also enlarged. Among other matters, it is given authority to decide whether any individual or corporation shall have access to sterling exchange and to what amount. A method of regulating imports is thereby established.

A scheme for establishing fixed prices for the wheat-growing and baking industries has been formulated and placed under the management of a Wheat Committee, whose members represent the three industries. Measures have also been adopted to regulate the distribution of gasoline. The government has announced that it will assume the ownership of all dairy produce and make itself responsible for its marketing.

The author points out that all is not smooth sailing for the Labor Government. Costs of living and production are rising at an ominous rate and a policy of trying to keep down prices by state regulation can hardly be avoided. Protests of business and industrial interests against some of the regulatory legislation have already forced some concessions. "It is premature to pronounce any verdict upon the record of New Zealand's first labor ministry," Mr. Stevenson says, "but its political honeymoon is over and its real testing time has come."

Mr. King Back

AFTER HIS EUROPEAN MISSION which took him to Geneva as head of the Canadian delegation to the meeting of the Assembly of the League of Nations, Prime Minister Mackenzie King is back in Canada, with, by the way, the pleasing announcement that His Majesty King Edward VIII hopes to visit the Dominion after the coronation ceremony next year.

Mr. King explained to interviewers today that Canada has made no commitments in the matter of empire defence, but that, while in London, he had discussed the problem of defence from the standpoint of world interests. When the Prime Minister next meets Parliament, of course, he will present to the elected representatives of the people a composite report on his mission, together with his own personal symposium.

It is interesting to note that Mr. King found in Europe a tendency to which he could heartily subscribe—"an apparent move away from economic nationalism and a growing belief that the best way to peace among nations was by means of freer intercourse." The Prime Minister found, indeed, that there actually was apparent a desire to lower tariff barriers and gradually to get rid of the various forms of trade restrictions.

This is all to the good. Mr. King was able to take to continental Europe and to Great Britain a healthy breeze from the New World. What he said and did over there will be appropriately noted.

Vancouver Shells Out

LAST TUESDAY NIGHT, WHEN the latest returns had reached headquarters, the Vancouver Welfare Federation was able to announce to the public of the Terminal City that this year's drive for funds to assist the needy had set a new record.

We are told that subscriptions to the campaign now about to be closed amount to $325,651, with every expectation that several thousand dollars will be added before the lists are finally closed. Last year the final total was $320,053. General elation over the result was tempered by the knowledge that the total again is measurably short of the objective, $350,000.

Our neighbors across the Gulf have many insistent demands made upon them. The unemployment situation presents problems which often have to be faced, in a material way, by the individual who has a dollar or so in his pocket. So they are entitled to congratulations on their latest response to the appeal of the Welfare Federation—sponsors of the Community Chest.

Not in Quebec

IT IS NOT FOR US IN BRITISH COLUMBIA to suggest what the elected representatives of the people of Quebec should or should not do. But it must strike the majority of the people of this province as amazing that the women of the ancient province of the Dominion still are denied the vote.

A standing vote in the Quebec House yesterday turned down an amendment to the election law which would have put the women of that province on all fours with the men in respect of the franchise. In the other eight provinces of the Dominion, of course, women are permitted to vote.

Notes

If on the first meeting he says she is a wonderfully smart woman, he means that she listened.

Let us see: the old generation caused the war; then youth took charge to save the world, and now look at it.

Japan demands reparations for several Japanese killed in China, her motto apparently being "an upper and lower set for a tooth."

A Communist, on a platform in the east got the answer to "which came first, the hen or the egg?" He did not have to dodge a single hen.

A girl now destined for grand opera was discovered in a Philadelphia fish market. At the same time, musical talent scouts might have picked up a bass or two.

The firming of local egg prices to around the fifty-cents-a-dozen mark adds interest to the news from England of a probable egg shortage there between now and the spring. London reports that as much as five cents is being asked for a first grade egg in retail shops and it is probable that about 87 cents a dozen will be reached before the year is out. The prospective dearth in England is accounted for by the prevalence of disease among laying hens on many of the smaller poultry farms.

Column Three

Mr. Assestine produces B.C.'s Forgotten Man: then tells the House of the great North Country. Herbert Assestine sings a sour note in theme song, and Mr. Winch Jr. is afraid none of the members know what it is all about.

By TOM MERRIMAN

AFTER hearing so much of the problems of the unemployed, it came almost as a shock to the B.C. Legislature yesterday when W. J. Assestine, the Liberal member and mining man from Atlin, pleaded the cause of the worker with a job in the nature of a plea for the forgotten man of British Columbia.

There had been a lot of talk about the unemployed, Mr. Assestine noted, and thought, some of the labor representatives in the House might give a little attention to the men who worked. Because of charges upon him for social services, unemployment costs and so on, his pay cheque was dwindling month by month. His home was taxed; his clothes were taxed, and everything he ate was taxed to cover these growing costs.

ALL SERIOUS NOW

MR. ASSESTINE, who at one time used to give a little vent to his talents as an entertainer, he has thrown aside this indulgence. He gave to the House detailed information of the great north country he represents, its transportation needs, with particular reference to the development of mining in the north; mining, prospecting, trails and all other problems that must be met for the proper development of the area, including the suggestions of a school for prospectors and publicity on the mining areas.

LAST BEFORE THE BUDGET

HERBERT ANSCOMB, Independent, Victoria, and Harold Winch, C.C.F., of Vancouver East, were other speakers who shared in the last day of speech-making before Finance Minister Hart takes the spotlight today with his budget.

Mr. Anscomb, as a former reeve of Oak Bay, and Mayor of Victoria, assumed with vigor the role of champion of the municipalities, or Junior governments, as he chose to call them. He voiced in the House familiar arguments which municipal representatives have been presenting through delegations to the government ever since the Toimie administration cut their grants and unloaded social service costs on them four or five years ago. He charged that it was the government's responsibility to see that the cities of British Columbia were able to operate in a sound financial manner, especially in view of the fact that it had appropriated to itself the right to collect taxes which the cities should be able to collect.

A SOUR NOTE

MR. ANSCOMB seemed anxious to bring a note of discord into the government's theme song of the session, "Happy Days are Here Again." No credit was due to the government for the improved conditions. It was the Ottawa agreements, he claimed, and appealed to his lumberman friend, "the member for Sweden," as he described Mr. Bruhn of Salmon Arm, if the lumber business would not be negligible, if it weren't for the agreements. The mining business, too, would be in the doldrums, he said, but for the fictitious value of $30 an ounce on gold.

DARKNESS

DURING Mr. Anscomb's speech, the lights of the Parliament Buildings failed and the House was in darkness.

The incident gave the young C.C.F. member an opportunity to air a little humor at Mr. Anscomb's expense.

"I am an electrician," Mr. Winch said, in opening the speech, which yesterday he assured the House would be a "sweet" one, as the result of data supplied by Stanley E. McKeen, when he discussed political economics.

"Then fix the lights," interjected a member. "That is just what I am going to do economically as well as practically," said Mr. Winch, and some older members gasped at the supreme confidence with which he approached a subject worrying statesmen of the world.

"They tell me I was a good electrician," Mr. Winch proceeded, "but that was the first time I ever heard of not air blowing a fuse." Referring to the darkness which came over the House while the Victoria member was emphatically giving his views to the House and carrying on with the darkness to illustrate a point—if darkness can be used to illustrate anything—he drove right ahead into a socialistic passage, declaring the economic system of capitalism was failing to function, just as the lights failed to function in the House a few minutes before.

Evidently regarding Mr. Anscomb as capitalism's most outstanding representative, he charged him with being in the dark mentally as well as actually.

"KIDDING"

THE CONFIDENT young member said he had learned to like a lot of members on the other side of the House since he had come to the Legislature. Some of them seemed such good fellows that after they made speeches in the House he was puzzled. He didn't know if they were kidding the House, trying to kid the House, kidding themselves or whether they didn't know what it was all about, or whether when they got inside they lost all contact with affairs outside. And with regard to Mr. McKeen, for whom, he said, he had personal liking, he wondered if the Vancouver-East member in his speech yesterday was kidding or whether it was plain ignorance that guided him when he hit indirectly at the theories of Socialism.

Mr. Winch had a tilt with E. D. Barrow when he came to discuss marketing. While he believed the principle of controlled marketing, he didn't like some of the operations of the board, and quoted instances where, he claimed, a 80 cent levy had been charged when a 10 cent levy should have been charged.

Mr. Barrow sought to make it an argument, but Mr. Speaker ruled him down.

"I don't mind. I am not a farmer, but I can handle him," said the young member, and Mr. Barrow had not intended to speak but Mr. Winch's comments on the marketing board's operation stirred him to make a speech in its defence and as a man of the land, Mr. Barrow naturally could not refrain from pleading the cause of the farmer generally.

FATE OF MURDERERS

THE CASE of the George brothers, spending their last few hours in the death cell as the House was given a review of the case, prompted Attorney-General Sloan to be the only minister to join in the debate on the Speech from the Throne before it closed last night. Exaction of the full penalty was essential to protect the police, he said. Unless it was inflicted an official could not safely go to an Indian reserve. The criminal element must be taught that the death sentence is a permanent thing, that the death sentence is not a mere formality. He charged the eight members who sought to save them from the gallows were in the position of condoning a cold-blooded and wanton murder.

5-and-10 Heiress

COUNTESS BARBARA HUTTON Haugwitz-Reventlow, who fled to England to escape the spotlight at home, has at last been interviewed. It was obtained by Adela Rogers St. Johns in London, and appears in the November Cosmopolitan. She tells why she left America, how she wants to bring up her son, and even discusses the failure of her first marriage to the late Prince Midvian.

"I couldn't stand people disliking me so much and always thinking the worst of me, so I came away," the heiress to the Woolworth millions stated. "I'm not under any illusions about myself. I don't give a hoot for social position. We haven't any, really—how could we have? If we didn't have all this money we could not be in the social register."

"I had no more to do with running the Woolworth stores than I have with running the British Empire. I have never had anything to do about all this money. After all, I can only one generation removed from the women of my family who washed their own dishes and made their own clothes. I have a hunch if I had to go back to the dishpan, I could do it."

"My son isn't so far away from my grandfather, who started in a small town store that he can't understand me to back it. If I can't I shall bring my son up so he won't make any difference whether he has money or not. My son will do something. I don't know what it will be, but something. He'll be trained as his father was trained, and my father and grandfather were trained. He will be just a rich woman's spoiled kid."

Adela Rogers St. Johns says that the reports of the fabulous nursery with the staff of trained nurses and resident physicians which the dollar princess is reputed to have installed in London for her son, are greatly exaggerated. She found young Lance Haugwitz-Reventlow in an old-fashioned room with the regular baby furniture, by riding up four flights in a rickety elevator.

The former Babs Hutton is dedicatedly matured in her ideas. Her second marriage has brought her happiness. Of her romance with the late Prince Midvian, upon whom she settled a million dollars, the Countess said:

"I never loved Alex Midvian. I never even thought I did. But he was my best friend. For a long time he was my only friend and confidant. Girls didn't get close to me. Maybe they thought it was unfair that I had so much money. I waited a companion. I didn't realize that the worst thing I could possibly do was to marry a titled foreigner. I didn't know that Alex had planned to marry me when I grew up ever since he first met me, but our marriage wasn't what I thought it was going to be."

ISLAND HIGHWAY DANGER SPOTS

From The Nanaimo Herald

The government in its plans for the improvement of the Island Highway proposed building a new road to cut off the mile or so of treacherous highway which snakes along between the shore of Cowichan Bay and a clammy hillside, which is more or less always in movement. The proposal has met with violent opposition from many of the Cowichan Bay residents, and is now being discussed up and down the island. The strip of road running along the shore of the Cowichan Bay is reached by a hill at the north and south ends. The hill at the north end is not dangerous, but it certainly needs straightening and widening. The hill at the south end is without any doubt the worst and most dangerous on the Island Highway. It is just one of the kind of hills that modern engineers in roadmaking either have to remedy or improve or eliminate altogether.

We do not know the route of the proposed new road, but it has appeared to us as strange that the Buena Vista hill should have received no attention in the discussions of the project we have seen.

After all, if the island is to build up its tourist trade, our highways must be straightened and such of the curves as are to be found across the "B" track be outside of it. Duncan and right about turn at the Cowichan tennis courts taken out. All dangerous hills and obsolete gradients should be obliterated. Naturally there are also public convenience and vested rights to be considered, but in the case of an Island Highway, island interests should be the deciding issue.

COPPER CAPITALIST

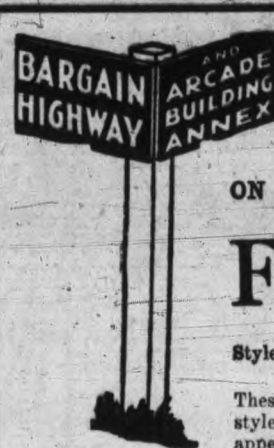

(From a Correspondent)

What millionaires do with their spare time would fill a volume. But probably the thriftiest and most admirable of all is the hobby Walter Chrysler indulges in. Mr. Chrysler collects penny banks and actually saves his copper coins in them. Not that he has to, by necessity. He does it for fun and, in fact, he appraises every one of his penny banks at more than he ever could save in them. It seems that he has been up to this odd diversion for the past three years. In that time he has collected some 900 banks, all in good working order and authentic.

He has banks which, when a coin is inserted, will cause Buster Brown and his dog Tige to take a steep incline on a chute-the-chute and another which induces Prof. Puggles, done in bronze, to take a bicycle ride. And there are numerous others of every period, type and description built since 1870. Mr. Chrysler cannot think of many things he would rather do than extract a handful of pennies from a can he keeps around and drop them into his penny machines.

"DEAD" EARTH IS ALIVE

Striking new figures on how much life there is in seemingly dead earth have been produced by Dr. G. Frenzel of the Berlin Zoological Museum. He made a count of a number of soil samples taken at the depth of about a foot, in rather dry, sandy meadowland. Of one-celled animals he found nearly 150,000,000 per square yard, and of the many-celled forms, principally small insects and mites, approximately 90,000. Bacteria, and other forms of plant life were not included in his count.

B.C. Leads Provinces In Recovery, Hart Claims

Relieved of Social Service Costs In Provincial Budget

clusion. "In matters pertaining to the economic structure of organized areas," the minister said.

"During 1932, the government of the province made all municipalities liable for the part cost of certain social services; this involved the payment by them of 50 per cent of the cost of mothers' pensions applicable to municipal cases, 50 cents per diem for all municipal inmates in mental hospitals, 80 cents per diem for all municipal inmates in the boys' and girls' industrial schools; and, finally, $1.25 per diem, instead of 70 cents as formerly, for each municipal patient cared for in the Tranquille sanatorium.

RESTORE POSITION

"In response to appeals by municipalities for the removal of these charges, the government has decided, in so far as these costs are concerned, not only to restore the municipalities to their former position, but also to grant them further assistance by assuming the full cost of patients in the Tranquille sanatorium.

"The effect of this decision will be that whereas during 1935 the municipalities contributed an aggregate sum of $621,315 by paying $232,653 towards the cost of mothers' pensions, $335,712 towards that of mental hospitals, $14,602 towards that of industrial schools, and $396 towards the cost of patients in Tranquille; the government, after March 31, 1937, will assume permanently these charges and, as evidenced in the estimates before the House, will incur additional expenditures during 1937-38 aggregating $691,000, apportioned as follows: For mothers' pensions, approximately $264,000; for mental hospitals, $335,000; for industrial schools, $14,000; and for the Tranquille sanatorium, $80,000.

"The government is pleased to be able to grant this assistance to the municipalities and to enable them to lessen to this extent the existing burden upon real property. According to estimates, Vancouver will benefit by some $300,000, Victoria by approximately $60,000, New Westminster by $32,500, and Nanaimo by $11,500.

WHAT CITIES GET

"In conjunction with the foregoing it is desired to draw attention to the fact that the government is making grants towards the salaries of teachers; from $1,186,762.99 paid therefor in 1933-34 these have risen steadily and will require an expenditure of $1,450,000 during 1937-38. Sundry other grants for educational purposes will during the forthcoming year, exceed $85,000, and the share of the motor-vehicle license distributed to organized areas involves an expenditure of $570,000. From these sources, therefore, municipalities will receive, during 1937-38, the sum of $2,105,000.

"Over and above these grants and the cost of social services amounting to $691,000, which the government is now assuming, municipalities are benefiting already by the cut from 3 1/2 per cent to 20 per cent in the proportion of unemployment relief costs chargeable to them, which cut will enable a municipal saving during the current year of some $251,700. The government also received approximately $1,800 as aid towards the cost of medical, dental and health services for unemployed. The saving to them by the reduction to 3 1/2 per cent on demand notes issued to the government for unemployed relief loans amounts to $1,584. Finally, the government is paying 80 per cent of the cost of many municipal indigents and unemployed on relief, are, strictly speaking, a distinct municipal charge.

"It is evident, therefore, from the foregoing that considerable aid already has been extended to municipalities by this government, and that the new provisions should assist them materially in their future financial transactions."

EXPENDITURES NEXT YEAR

In dealing with his budgetary requirements for 1937-38, Mr. Hart estimated expenditures at $26,350,000, and his revenues at $25,460,341, without changing taxation.

Discussing the proposed increases in expenditures, he said:

"The estimated expenditures exceed the parliamentary grants for the current year by $2,198,000.82.

"Last year an announcement was made that owing to the increase in the cost of living, and the gradual return to normal conditions, salaries of civil servants in the lower salary brackets would be restored to the full amount formerly earned. The restoration was applicable in full to salaries of $1,800 or less and, in part, to all salaries over that amount. This coming year full restoration of salaries is being granted to civil servants earning salaries exceeding $1,800 per annum, with the result that the coming year's estimates are increased by $81,000 for this purpose.

"It also was announced last year that economic conditions permitting, financial aid would be extended to municipalities. The estimates which are now being considered include an amount of $691,000, which represents that measure of aid which it has been found possible to extend to local authorities. The government is assuming the total cost of mothers' pensions, thus relieving the municipalities of a charge of $264,000. The cost of municipal inmates in mental hospitals and industrial schools, involving $335,000 and $14,000, respectively; and also the full cost of municipal patients in the Tranquille sanatorium, to which local authorities would otherwise have contributed $80,000.

MORE FOR ROADS

"Owing to the urgent need for proper maintenance of our highways and bridges, it is proposed to spend $400,000 more on that account during the forthcoming fiscal year.

"The combined cost of the restoration of salaries, relief to municipalities and additional road and bridge maintenance provisions, amounts to $1,181,000; other increases in expenditures are found in: Public debt, $169,000 to meet the first principal instalment on serial debenture issue P.Z.; provincial police, $79,705.53; county gaols, $15,392.67; industrial education, $11,605.92; teachers' salary grants, $65,000; school buildings, $34,000; adult education, $15,000; grants to the University of British Columbia, $50,000; advances to rural schools (statutory), $40,000; government agencies, $15,392.70; publicity, $15,000; interest on superannuation and teachers' pensions funds, $73,000; Department of Lands, expenses, $13,850; forest protection fund, $100,000; forest research, $12,000; water surveys, $10,000; per capita grants to hospitals, $25,000; special grants to hospitals, $22,500; assessment on the Crown by the Workmen's Compensation Board, $55,000; government's share of contribution to superannuation fund, $15,000; provincial Board of Health, $13,325.83; and, finally, sundry miscellaneous increases in the net amount of $7,227.97.

"Revenue accruals of $26,467,341.46 during 1937-38 are anticipated to provide $25,641,842.65 for ordinary expenditures and $749,752 for debt redemption, or expenditures aggregating $26,390,594.65. A revenue surplus of $78,746.81 is, therefore, anticipated."

Large Gains in Revenue Foreseen

Mr. Hart's estimates of revenue for the fiscal year of 1937-1938 indicate a rapid climb in the income from existing tax sources.

Placing the total estimate at $26,467,341.46, up $2,156,000, he predicted the following chief sources of revenue by comparison with the estimates for the current fiscal year: liquor profits $466,000 more; motor vehicle act, $148,300; poll taxes, $35,000; gasoline tax, $150,000; income tax, $500,000; interest, $55,000; mineral taxes, $50,000; land royalties, $250,000; traffic control, $34,000; with an additional $50,000 in refunds of capital expenditure and $74,500 in sundry increases.

Average Rate of Interest Reduced

Through reductions in interest rates paid by the government on its treasury bills, the average rate now paid on the gross debt is 4.01 per cent, Mr. Hart stated.

This is a reduction of nearly three-quarters of one per cent from the average rate the province was paying in November, 1935, which was 4.73 per cent.

The province is now paying the Dominion government 3 per cent instead of 5 per cent on treasury bills, amounting to $28,595,079.92 and 3 1/2 per cent to the bank on $6,015,000. Since nearly one-fifth of the gross provincial debt is in treasury bills, the saving has been considerable.

Cheaper money obtained in this way has enabled the government to pass on savings to the public by reducing to 4 1/2 per cent the interest charged on tax arrears and various agreements of sale. Previously 6 per cent and 8 per cent were charged.

Treasury Control Policy Has Worked

The Finance Minister declared that his policy of treasury control, laid down when he took office in November, 1933, had worked out satisfactorily. As a result, he said, from 1933 to 1937 inclusive, the province was meeting its entire expenditure, with the exception of relief and sinking funds, and would show a surplus of income amounting to $987,779.23 even after paying off the $3,500,000 debt maturity in May.

He recalled that the first thing he did was to lay down the policy of borrowing from the Dominion for relief and deferring sinking funds, then to restrict expenditure to the size of the province's income.

POLICY CLOSELY FOLLOWED

"This policy has been adhered to strictly and the ratio of increase in expenditures has been governed entirely by the volume of revenue accruing to the treasury," he said. "The economic progress of the last three years has facilitated greatly operations on current account and it will be found that during the four years ending March 31, 1937, the government has not only met all ordinary requirements, amounting to approximately $88,446,314.05, but will also have effected debt reductions aggregating $5,858,562.63, and will complete that period with a surplus of $987,779.23," the Finance Minister said.

The achievement of paying off the May maturity of $3,500,000 out of cash surplus "is a source of great pride and gratification to the government; it justifies not only its financial policy but also proves positively its determination to maintain and improve the province's credit."

Debt Increase Only $800,699

Mr. Hart placed the gross debt of the province at October 1 this year at $180,309,467.56, which, however, is subject to an additional $2,400,000 applied for at Ottawa as a relief loan which has been temporarily financed out of general revenue.

Disregarding this $2,400,000, which is not yet incorporated in the actual debt structure, the increase in gross debt from November 1, 1935, to October 1, 1936, was $800,699.

During the year the treasury paid off a $3,500,000 maturity in May, paid off a $5,000,000 maturity in February, met $332,000 in serial debentures, paid off a $71,600 treasury bill held by the Dominion and $67,000 on the British Columbia house mortgage, for a total of $8,933,300 in debt redemption.

Offsetting this redemption, however, were the borrowings, as follows: A treasury bill of $4,300,000 to the Dominion to pay off the February maturity, plus $700,000 in 3 per cent debentures sold to the sinking funds; $1,000,000 in 3 1/2 per cent debentures for the Fraser River bridge; $250,000 in 3 per cent debentures for roads; $3,409,000 in treasury bills to the Dominion for relief, and $75,000 in a treasury bill to the bank for P.G.E. construction work; a grant of $9,734,000. This aggregate figure for borrowings is subject to the additional $2,400,000 applied for at Ottawa.

While the gross debt increased by $800,699, the net debt was actually reduced by $236,913 in the eleven-month period because the sinking funds increased in value by $1,037,613.13, the finance minister said.

The sinking funds are now valued at $2,645,548.15, of which is included $749,752 for debt redemption, or expenditures aggregating $26,390,594.65. A revenue surplus of $78,746.81 is, therefore, anticipated.

How Finances of 1935-36 Finished

The finance minister's figures, covering financial operations for the fiscal year ending last March 31, as shown in the public accounts he tabled at the beginning of the session, indicate that on its total financing last year the province went slightly over $600,000. This figure takes into account all relief borrowings plus the amount that was not put into the sinking funds.

On its revenue account, as previously announced, the treasury had a surplus of $2,619,175.42. Its borrowings of all kinds, including money for roads, the Fraser River bridge and other capital undertakings, reached a figure of $8,209,000. In addition to this a sum of $2,359,987 was unpaid to the sinking funds, making a total of $10,569,000 not paid for out of revenue.

To calculate the province's net position on the year's operations, the surplus of $2,619,175 would be deducted from this total, plus some $1,764,000 which went into roads and bridges as capital expenditure, leaving approximately $6,200,000 unpaid out of revenue, with no assets against it.

Actually, it was explained by the finance minister, the revenue surplus would have been more than sufficient to pay the sinking fund instalments, but instead was used to help pay off a $3,500,000 maturity in May.

Big Relief Bill; Lists Dropping

The unemployment relief bill in B.C. from November 1, 1930, up to September 30, this year, has been $5,283,328.05; but there is some cause for optimism in the fact that the relief rolls are now at their lowest point, and in September this year there were 41,358 individuals less dependent on state assistance than in the peak three years ago, Mr. Hart said.

The finance minister drew attention, however, to the fact that while the relief rolls are dropping the costs are not decreasing in the same proportion. The expenditure in September this year was $578,792, which was $4,658 greater than in September, 1934, when there were 11,904 more people getting assistance.

HOW COST DIVIDED

Of the $53,283,328.05 spent on relief to date, $26,125,620.13 has been spent in municipal areas, Mr. Hart said. The municipalities themselves have spent $7,965,411.61 of the total, the province $27,391,861.32 and the Dominion Government $18,028,035.12. The Dominion is now contributing a flat $200,812.50 per month. Using this and its own funds, the province pays for 80 per cent of the cost in municipalities and the full cost in the unorganized districts.

Touching briefly upon the new federal farm placement scheme and

Expenditures Within Revenue

To show how, in the last four fiscal years, the provincial treasury has paid all its current obligations (with the exception of relief and sinking fund instalments) out of general revenue and has had enough left to do a certain amount of debt redemption, Hon. John Hart presented the following table to the Legislature:

Financial Policy reflected in operations for four years, ending March 31, 1937:
Revenue collected during 1933-34	$20,208,859.75
Revenue collected during 1934-35	22,761,719.46
Revenue collected during 1935-36	25,882,077.23
Anticipated revenue collections during 1936-37	26,460,000.00
Total	$95,292,656.53
All expenditure excepting debt redemption and unemployment relief:
1933-34	$19,997,084.58
1934-35	21,003,791.90
1935-36	22,649,595.27
1936-37 (anticipated)	24,795,842.30
Total	$88,446,314.05
Balance	$ 6,846,342.48
Debt Redemption:
1933-34	$585,752.00
1934-35	593,752.00
1935-36	593,206.63
1936-37	585,752.00
Total	$2,358,562.63

Total	$ 5,858,562.63
Surplus over all expenditure from income	$ 987,779.85

Victoria Member Raps at Mayors railway work for single men, the finance minister added:

DOMINION URGED TO ACT

"Taking into account all economic factors, there is no doubt that the unemployment problem is national rather than provincial or local in character, and it is hoped that early and adequate steps will be taken by the Dominion Government to cope fully with the situation."

Unless additional opportunities for work are provided for the men formerly in relief camps, "conditions this winter will be acute," he said.

P.G.E. Debt High Line Shows Profit

British Columbia owes $83,263,591.74 for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, the finance minister announced, nearly half the total provincial debt. This figure includes $55,010,806.58 by way of loans and advances to the railway, $20,100,000 in guaranteed stock and bonds which has now been accepted as a direct government obligation, and $8,052,782.16 paid by the province in interest on its guarantee.

Mr. Hart announced that in the eight months ending August 31 the railway had an operating profit of $33,655. This, with the $60,022.45 profit in 1935, has been used for renewals of right-of-way and structures.

Debt to Ottawa Near $30,000,000

On October 1 this year, the province owed the Dominion Government $28,595,079.92 in treasury bills and had made application for a further $2,400,000 in relief loans, the Finance Minister said.

For the last six years the province has been doing most of its current financing by loans from Ottawa.

In the period from November 1, 1935, to October 1, 1936, the borrowings from Ottawa amounted to $7,709,000, which was made up of $4,300,000 to help refund a maturity in February and $3,409,000 for unemployment relief purposes.

Surplus Account Down $3,200,000

British Columbia has a $16,694,233 surplus of assets over liabilities, Mr. Hart said.

As at March 31 last, assets of the province were gauged at $244,232,487.52 against liabilities of $227,538,254.34.

The surplus decreased in the fiscal year by $3,234,312.89.

Borrowings for unemployment relief and flood damage during the period ran to over $7,700,000, and $861,377 was written off by way of depreciation, which, with other sums, made a total of $8,815,849 in added liabilities. Offsetting this loss to the extent of $5,581,536 was the revenue surplus of $2,619,175, earnings of $1,315,155 in the sinking funds and certain items of expenditure chargeable to the assets and liabilities account.

Provincial Debt at Oct. 1, 1936

The gross B.C. debt at October 1 was composed as follows, Hon. John Hart told the Legislature today:
Inscribed stock and debentures	$121,386,236.00
Pacific Great Eastern guarantee (now treated as a direct obligation)	20,160,000.00
Treasury bills: To the Dominion	$28,595,079.92
To the Bank	6,018,906.48
B.C. House, London, mortgage	$4,975.00
Total	$176,242,097.40
Add to this: Balance of revenue deficits as at March 31, 1934, remaining unfurnished on October 1, 1935	$6,270,161.60
Gross debt as at October 1, 1936	$180,309,467.56
Gross debt as at November 1, 1935	$179,508,767.74
Increase in gross debt	800,699.82
Sinking Funds	34,694,548.15
Net debt	$145,614,919.21

Throne Speech Debate Ends

Seven Days of Speaking Concludes in House; Now Has Budget

Just seven days old, and remarkable for the fact that the only remarks from the treasury benches were those of the Attorney-General relative to the notorious George brothers murder case, the debate on the address ground to a halt in the B.C. Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, then presented the formal resolutions which precede the presentation of his budget, and the members were prepared today to hear his account of provincial finances.

Five speakers were heard on the final day of debate: Herbert Asquith, Independent, Victoria; Harold E. Winch, C.C.F., Vancouver East; W. J. Aseltine, Liberal, Atlin; E. D. Barrow, Liberal, Chilliwack, and Hon. Gordon Sloan.

From Mr. Aseltine was heard an earnest plea for the mining industry, with stress on the part that aviation can play in its development.

He complimented the Premier on the attention he had drawn to the value of planes to the north during his flights in the summer, but added: "The trouble is our air transport up there is growing east and west, instead of north and south. If we are not careful we will have another case like Spokane by developing the outlet for our industries on the Alaska panhandle."

LODE MINING SCHOOL

Mr. Aseltine urged the government to consider seriously the establishment of schools for lode gold prospecting, and also suggested the purchase of a plane to use in geological work and to transport district engineers so they could cover more ground.

He referred to the benefit which hours of work legislation had been in providing extra jobs, and added that there was no able-bodied man on relief in his riding now, although there were twenty-six men getting assistance who could not work.

SUPPRESSION OF FREEDOM

Harold Winch voiced complaints of the Provincial Police for refusing to let him hold a meeting in Youbou during the lumber camp strike last May, saying this was an indication of what might be expected in the way of suppressing individual freedom.

This statement drew reply from Mr. Asquith, who said the police should not be subject to such continual "hawking."

Mr. Winch took Mayor McGeer to task on statements attributed to him in London that western Canada had room for 100,000,000 people and was on the verge of the greatest era of prosperity in its history, with skilled labor in demand.

"This seems funny when Mr. Minister of Labor is warning unemployed transients not to come to the province. I think such irresponsible statements by our public men should be handled firmly by the provincial government," he declared.

Mr. Winch concluded with a review of the youth conference at Ottawa in June and announced his intention of putting forward a Youth Act which he hoped the House would support.

"The youth of our country are awakening to their responsibilities. I hope the government will help them," he said.

COAL REPORT NOT IN YET

Whether Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald's Royal Commission appointed in November, 1934, to investigate coal and petroleum products in British Columbia will report to the present session of the Legislature remained a matter of doubt today, although it had been expected in time for action this year.

In reply to questions on the order paper, Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, informed the House yesterday that the commission has not yet reported and that information sought regarding costs was not yet complete and available.

The public accounts for the last two years show that $57,633.52 was spent on the inquiry up to March 31 of this year.

BY-ELECTION WON BY BRITISH LABOR

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 6.—Labor retained Clay Cross, Derbyshire, riding in a by-election yesterday. It was announced today. The by-election was a straight contest between Labor and Conservative candidates.

The result was: George Ridley, Labor, 24,290; Miss Bridget Jackson, Conservative, 8,042.

At the last general election E. Holland, Labor, polled 24,590 votes to 8,391 for Miss Jackson. The seat was vacated by Holland's death.

In the eleven by-elections held since the general election, Labor has won three seats, Government candidates retained six and Labor retained two.

Rapid Gains Shown In Payrolls and Industry In B.C.

Sinking Funds Are Compared

Omission of instalments to the sinking funds against the redemption of British Columbia's debt, in the last few years has not been a detracting factor in the province's credit position and, by comparison with the other provinces of Canada, British Columbia has by far the greatest proportion of sinking funds, Mr. Hart said.

Mr. Hart recited the following table in sound figures to show this position:

	Gross	Sinking funds
British Columbia	$180,309,467.56	$34,694,548.15
Three prairie provinces combined	467,514,000	29,344,000
Three maritime provinces	149,474,000	14,378,000
Quebec	176,886,000	17,658,000

In Ontario, Mr. Hart explained, debt redemption is carried on by serial payments, so the comparison can not be made.

Market Board Is Questioned

Members in House Debate Actions of Vegetable Control Group

Closing moments of the debate on the Throne Speech in the Legislature, yesterday were enlivened by attacks upon the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board by H. E. Winch, C.C.F., Vancouver East, and a defence of the board by E. D. Barrow, Liberal, Chilliwack, former Minister of Agriculture.

When Mr. Winch charged the board with making wide and fluctuating spreads in the prices paid by it to producers—and prices charged to wholesalers, Mr. Barrow broke a previous resolution not to speak in the debate in order to answer him.

Mr. Winch said he was not opposed to the marketing legislation in principle, but his own investigations seemed to show, he went on, that the board as it is administered now "has a racket in it somewhere."

There is far too much price spread, far too much power vested in the board, he charged. He cited one case where a producer had forty sacks of potatoes which were taken by the board. When the farmer got his account his produce had shrunk to twenty-six sacks, for which he was allowed 95 cents a sack. This totaled $24.70, less $11.12 for sundry charges, and another $7.80 for levy, leaving the farmer only $5.80. The levy was 30 cents a sack, he said.

Mr. Barrow, claiming privilege, declared the board's charge was 10 cents a sack.

Later in the debate, Mr. Barrow rose to reply to the charge, the story. He declared there was a great deal of misinformation circulated by ignorant or interested parties, and reiterated the charge is 10 cents.

Mr. Winch rose to claim the Mr. Barrow was challenging his veracity. "The honorable member can produce documentary evidence," suggested Mr. Barrow.

"Right this minute," retorted Mr. Winch. He produced a document relating to the case under dispute, from which he read once again the figure he had previously submitted.

Mr. Barrow indicated he still was not satisfied the charge was proved. "There is a charge for grading," he suggested.

Current Surplus For Present Year

In the current fiscal year, covering from April 1, 1936, to March 31, 1937, the province will have a surplus on its operating account of slightly over $1,000,000, at least, Mr. Hart estimated, in a review of the financial operations for the six months ending September 30 given in his budget speech today.

In the half year the province had collected $14,993,086.59 on estimated revenue for the full year of $24,312,541.46. This compared with $12,288,104.62 collected in the corresponding period of last year. This indicates an increase of over $2,7

To Advise On Jobless Women

Well-known Women Named On National Commission

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Appointment of the women's advisory committee to the National Employment Commission was announced by Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, today. Its five members are: Mrs. L. G. Ferguson, Westville, N.S.; Miss Ruth Low, Kitchener, Ont.; Mrs. Walter Laidlaw, Winnipeg; Madame Maurice Cormier, Montreal; and Mrs. Angus J. Currie, Gova, Sask.

Appointment of a women's committee is provided for in the act establishing the National Employment Commission, the Minister stated. It will investigate and report upon means to aid unemployed women to secure employment. It is anticipated the committee will meet in the near future and discuss with Commissioner M. M. Sutherland the work to be done.

FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA
Mrs. Sutherland has been devoting her attention largely to women's unemployment problems in her capacity as women's representative on the commission. As she comes from British Columbia, and will be actively associated with the new committee that province is represented.

The Maritime Provinces' member on the committee, Mrs. Ferguson, is an honor graduate of Dalhousie University, former vice-principal of Westville Schools and past president of the Provincial Council of Women for Nova Scotia.

Y.W.C.A. OFFICIAL
Miss Low is the general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association of Kitchener. A graduate of McGill University, she majored in sociology and social work.

Born in Canada of Icelandic parents, Mrs. Laidlaw received her early education in Yorkton, Sask. A graduate in law from Manitoba University, she practiced with her husband for several years in Winnipeg. She has been an active member of the University Women's Guild, formerly on the executive, and is now chairman of one of the study groups.

Madame Cormier is a graduate of Notre Dame Congregation, Montreal. Since her marriage she has been associated with all the leading charities and social service organizations for the French-speaking residents of Montreal.

As provincial president of Homemakers' Clubs in Saskatchewan, Mrs. Currie has had an opportunity to study home conditions in that province most carefully. She is now serving her third term as provincial president.

Few Tickets Left For Big Ball

With final arrangements completed and an encouraging advance sale of tickets, city police today were preparing to receive a large crowd at the Empress Hotel this evening for their twenty-third annual ball.

The committee in charge reported there were still a few tickets left, and these would be obtainable this evening at the hotel. The hotel reported practically all available rooms for the dance booked.

The grand march will commence shortly after 9 o'clock, led by the Premier and Mrs. Pattullo, and dancing will commence immediately after, continuing until 3 o'clock. A sit down supper will be served at 11 o'clock in the dining room.

Scottish Sale On Saturday

The St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will hold a bazaar and sale of work in the A.O.F. Hall tomorrow, commencing at 11 o'clock. A musical programme has been arranged for the afternoon.

The following are in charge of the various stalls: Fancy work, Mrs. Hughes; Mrs. Berwick; and Mrs. S. Mait; home cooking, Mrs. Balfour and Mrs. Dakers; candy, Mrs. Dirom and Mrs. Webster; games of skill, Mrs. Boyd; afternoon teas, Mrs. Logie, Mrs. Stronach and Mrs. McGregor. Several drawings will take place at the court whilst drive to be played in the evening, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Quintuplets Are Dead at Birth

Associated Press
Durham, N.C., Nov. 5.—Duke Hospital physicians last night said a white woman whom they declined to identify gave birth today to quintuplets, all of whom were dead at birth. Hospital officials said the babies were born prematurely to a woman of "a nearby town." They said she entered the hospital two days ago.

The physician present at the deliveries said it was difficult to determine the sex of the babies. Doctors said the condition of the woman, mother of a ten-months old child, is "good."

Emperor Seeks Second Wife

Because his first wife, Empress Pung Chi (left), has failed to provide him with an heir to the throne, Emperor Kang Teh (right) of Manchukuo will select another mate from among 100 sturdy and comely girls, fifteen to twenty years, assembled for him. Kang Teh, formerly Henry Pu Yi, boy emperor of China, and his empress have been married since 1932.

Society

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber entertained at a dinner party at Government House last night in compliment to Hon. W. L. Walsh, former Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, and Mrs. Walsh, who are spending some time in Victoria before leaving for the south for the winter months. Mrs. Hamber was beautifully gowned in peach satin. Covers were laid for the following invited guests at a table arranged with deep-rose antirrhinums, carnations and maidenhair fern, and illuminated with tall matching tapers in silver candelabra: Hon. W. L. Walsh, Premier and Mrs. D. D. Pattullo, Hon. G. M. Weir and Mrs. Weir, Sir Richard and Lady Lake, Justice and Mrs. Harold Robertson, Brigadier and Mrs. J. MacDonald, Commander and Mrs. C. T. Beard, Col. and Mrs. H. E. Tobin (Vancouver), Dr. and Mrs. Herman Robertson, Mrs. E. G. Prior, Mrs. V. Watts, Powell, Mrs. J. W. Benning, Mr. A. R. Heiter, Major Vincent McKenna and Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn.

Miss Florence Carlyle of Vancouver is spending some time in Victoria as the guest of Mrs. E. Meredith Smith, Ivy Street.

Mrs. Sydney Child, Beach Drive, who has been spending the last few days in Seattle, returned home this afternoon.

Dean Quinlan, who has been spending the last few days in Vancouver, returned home yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw, Logan Avenue, who has been spending the last week in Vancouver with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Barr, returned home yesterday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. David Ryall, who have been visiting Rev. S. Ryall and Mrs. Ryall of Cedar Hill, and with Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Salmon, Foul Bay Road, will leave on Sunday for Alert Bay, where Dr. Ryall is medical superintendent of the hospital there.

In compliment to Miss Pamela Charlewood and Miss Betty Bechtel, two prominent members of the younger social set whose weddings will take place this month, Miss Kathleen Wilson entertained at a luncheon party today at her home on St. Charles Street.

Mrs. Ian Woodburn of Vancouver, who has been spending the last two weeks in Victoria with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ross of Fairfield Road, left yesterday afternoon for her home on the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Hutchinson, Observatory Hill, will be "at home" to their friends on Sunday, November 8, from 3 till 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and 7:30 till 8 o'clock in the evening on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Premier and Mrs. T. D. Pattullo entertained at one of their series of seasonal dinners last night in the Princess Charlotte suite at the Empress Hotel, covers being laid at a table arranged with single rose chrysanthemums and maidenhair fern, with candles to match.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson will be the soloist during the tea hour at the Empress Hotel tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Wilson's programme will be as follows: "The Blacksmith" (Brahms), "The Last Waltz" (The Delicate Air) (Arne), "Ingrid's Song" (Kjerulf), "Winter Lullaby" (Koven), "Passing By" (Puccini), "Giannina Mia" (Primi). Mr. Malcolm More, the hotel pianist, will be at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. James Whitcomb returned to their home in Vancouver last night after bidding farewell to their daughter, Mrs. Allan Ritchie, who sailed aboard the R.M.S. Aorangi earlier in the evening for her home near Melbourne, Australia. Mrs. Ritchie has been visiting her parents for the last five weeks. They were guests of Miss Agnew at "Schubert" during their brief stay here.

To Observe Birthday Of B.C.

Mrs. E. W. Hamber To Attend I.O.D.E. Musicales

Mrs. E. W. Hamber has accepted the invitation of the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., to attend the tea-musicales to be held at the Empress Hotel on Thursday afternoon, November 12, in commemoration of the birthday of British Columbia.

Announcement to this effect was made at the chapter's meeting yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Colin Cummins, the regent.

Mr. B. A. McKelvie, the guest speaker, will relate the story of the founding of the Province of British Columbia on November 19, 1858, at Fort Langley, B.C. Sir James Douglas asserted the authority of the British Government over the mainland and Mr. Justice Begbie inducted him as governor of the new Province of British Columbia. Mrs. A. S. Christie programme. Anyone wishing further information is asked to telephone the secretary of the chapter, Mrs. Bertha Parsons, G 7491.

The chapter voted to purchase a $10 wreath of poppies for Poppy Day, and to give a donation to Dean Bolter's educational assistance fund, and also to contribute towards the library for Fairbridge Farm School.

It was decided to purchase six copies of the Coronation number of "Echoes" for distribution in the chapter's adopted schools, as a result of the excellent report presented by Mrs. Pillar, educational secretary. Mrs. Pottinger and Mrs. Pillar were thanked by the chapter for their work with regard to the recent telephone bridge party. Miss Liza Terry and Mrs. Colin Cummins were thanked for the prizes given in connection with the party.

Seventy-five Christmas calendars have been ordered by the chapter. Mrs. Jean A. McDonald, the special Empire study speaker, gave an interesting account of her trip abroad, during which she visited Scotland and England, and also went to Palestine, of which country she gave a graphic description. The speaker was warmly thanked for her delightful address.

Edith Drummond, Bernadette Colbert, Doris Bennett, Jessie and Pearl Cox, Ellen and Doris McCahey and Ruth and Edna Coates. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Wilmshurst, Shelbourne Street, on Tuesday, November 17.

In honor of Mrs. T. Hunter, 1240 Victoria Avenue, who is leaving shortly to make her home in Toronto, Mrs. W. D. Morgan and Mrs. L. J. Smith were joint hostesses at a tea at the home of the former on Victoria Avenue on Thursday afternoon. During the afternoon Mrs. Hunter was presented with a Parker fountain pen set and chest of notepaper from the following guests: Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. McGowan, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Switzer, Mrs. Gunn, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Sutton, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. John Montgomery, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Sinclair, Mrs. Stott, Mrs. Gelling, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Robson, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Percival, Mrs. H. Webster, Mrs. Mainprize, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Dewar, Mrs. Anst, Mrs. McGowan, Mrs. Smith, Miss Dorcas Briggs, Miss Helen Morgan, Mrs. I. Montgomery and Miss Joan Lang.

ARE YOU A "DABBER" LIKE DOROTHY WAS?

End nose-shine worry! With this remarkable almond base powder your nose need never shine!

Millions of women, like Dorothy, are driven to "dabbing" by gay-deceiver face powders... powders that tell one story before the dressing table... and quite another when they've been on your face a short while.

And like Dorothy, more women every day are learning that "dabbing" is as antiquated as the hoop skirt... and as needless as a bustle! For there is now a modern face powder that stays boudoir-fresh for hours with a single application! That powder is Princess Pat.

Princess Pat face powder clings longer because of its secret almond base.

It is, in fact, the only almond base powder! Besides imparting a treasured clinging quality, almond gives Princess Pat powder caressing, blending softness... makes your skin charmingly, radiantly beautiful, but never "powdery."

And almond is beneficial to your skin, as dermatologists know. Princess Pat powder is non-sticking, non-clogging, moisture-proof. Adorable "tone blend" shades—bewitchingly perfumed. For a complexion of enticing perfection, use Princess Pat powder! At dealers everywhere... accept no substitute.

Letters To The Editor

IN EIGHT WORDS

To the Editor:—All that has been, or can be said of Poppy Day may be summed up in eight words:

"To Honor the Dead and Help the Living!"

The privilege of response is ours.
H. W. HART,
509 Oliver Street, Oak Bay.

HISTORY INvariably REPEATS ITSELF

To the Editor:—From 1911 to 1914 Nikita of Montenegro amassed a fortune selling short on the Vienna stock market. He caused the first and second Balkan Wars, whereby Balkan securities tumbled and then brought him his profit.

King Humbert of Italy is Nikita's brother-in-law.

Is not Mussolini by his speeches endeavoring to cause the fear for war, making the same profit for his sovereign?

The Italian royal family is financially strong enough to do this deal and get away with it.

But why does the rest of the world have to suffer for one family's greed? The Italians can have no quarrel with the English, whose friends they have been for a century.

Italy has been ruined by the Ethiopian adventure, just like Austria and Germany have been through similar adventures in the past. Who is going to benefit by short selling against a deposit box of stock that will be bought back at a profit, when they can call the time for a score?

WILLIAM A. LAMING.

AN ENGLISH-CANADIAN SPEAKS UP

To the Editor:—Pro Patria of a few nights ago would appear to have "stepped into it" for suggesting that the strength of the battalion he had during the war contained but a sprinkling of Canadian-born, as against a large percentage of other nationalities.

In support of his contention, the figures of the "national make-up" of the unit I have the privilege of serving with overseas, taken from official records at organization, were as follows: English, 65 per cent; Scotch, 15 per cent; Irish, 10 per cent; Canadian and other, British nationalities, 10 per cent.

I may suggest that this circumstance, as in the case of the 100 per cent Canadian with the Twenty-second Battalion, was brought about by recruiting conditions peculiar to these particular units at organization.

The Canadian booster need have no fear as to the standard of his brother nationals, in the eyes of other British nationals, for the part they played in the war.

From the summer of 1915 until the end of the war I would estimate the strength of my unit to be, at all times during the period, not less than 80 per cent Canadian.

ONE OF THE 65 PER CENT ENGLISH.

REPLY TO MR. P. K. WINCH

To the Editor:—I was greatly surprised to see such an unfair letter as that of P. K. Winch in your issue of November 3.

The only fair way "Missourian" should be attacked is through the subject matter of his letters, and no other. As regards Mr. Winch's charge "Missourian" has, up to the present, been a little too mentally alert for the spokesmen of the Young Forum, who no doubt feel rather chafed at being so put on the spot. Surely Mr. Winch knows that he has no right to dictate the contents of another correspondent's letters. I consider his letter to be more lacking in British fair play than any I've yet seen.

As regards Mr. Winch's statement about the C.C.F. and the Orientals, I think the C.C.F. have the only intelligent policy of dealing with this question which would never have existed but for the blundering of our own capitalist statesmen.

South Has No Margin for Finesse or Bad Defence After Opponents Take First Three Tricks

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

East won the first three tricks with the ace, king and queen of diamonds, so South had no margin for free play to fulfill his contract of four aces.

This situation, fairly frequent at the bridge table, makes it doubly important for a player to plan his entire campaign, for he no longer has the resource of a bad defensive play or a lucky finesse to give him the tricks he needs.

The hand is one in which, if ten tricks are to be made, dummy's trumps must be cashed separately. Neither declarer nor dummy has a SOLUTION TO PREVIOUS CONTRACT PROBLEM

NO COMMUNIST

To the Editor:—The conflict in Spain with all its gruesome horrors and the aftermath of bitter feeling and desolation which will remain for example of the sorry plight to which a country can be led by Communist propaganda and agitators, besides revealing clearly the international nature of Communism itself.

"NOT A FASCIST."

AN INCIDENT

To the Editor:—Will you kindly allow me a small space in your paper to recount an incident which came under my notice recently.

I am interested in one or two quite wonderful organizations in this city. Visiting one this week I came in contact with a young man, not much more than a boy.

He looked tired, and his answer was that he had not slept the previous night as he had nowhere to sleep.

It seems a very awful condition in a beautiful and more or less wealthy city like Victoria.

Another similar case was told me by a friend of that man who, not at all well off, took the man in. "This is heard of a place called 'The Mud Flat'."

I was told that men congregated there and did as best they could for shelter. It seems almost unbelievable that something cannot be done to take care of these men, if only to provide them with a decent place to sleep.

The winter is coming on and surely conditions such as these will only spread disease and misery.

Had I any money I would try to find something, but unfortunately I have not.

Surely, among all the kind hearts and modied people of Victoria, someone will take up this cause.

A SORRY ONLOOKER,
Courtney Street.

WOOD COMPANY EMPLOYEES CHINESE

To the Editor:—Seldom do I achieve the distinction of appearing in print, but in case the following needs substantiating, my name appears below:

Picture a dismal November afternoon on Broughton Street. Some Government Employment Office about two dozen men packing neatly up and down, some going out of the window, others watching—with falling hopes, for it is getting late in the day—the door leading into the inner office, on the chance that there may come a call for a man to put a load of wood in, to clean a basement, anything that would yield a few cents.

A truck draws up outside loaded with wood, steps at the next door. All hands and the cook make a dive for the front window. Will the phone ring? Hushed expectancy reigns, moments pass.

Finally, two Chinese appear and, in their studied unconcerned mien, proceed to pack the wood in. Well, even a Chinaman has to eat. But where is this wood going? The writer goes outside, follows the "Sons of Confucius" upstairs. Where are we now? Can it possibly be? No! Yes, it is the home of work and wages—the Liberal headquarters. So what?

ITALY AND SPAIN

To the Editor:—I was glad that P. K. Winch answered E.K.M.'s letter on the developments and dates of special crises of Fascism in Italy. Both letters were courteous, straightforward without sneers and innuendoes, of which some writers are guilty.

It appears to me that Mussolini's change in outlook and the strong support he ultimately gained through the people themselves losing trust in the Socialist leaders who were dominated by Communist destructive policies, forced strikes being one; insulting the King another, and so on. A secretly United Front in Italy had its end and lost it solely by its own fault. In Germany's up-raise there is the same history.

In Spain we are seeing the same results from the Communist determination to impose ruthless extremes. If the social democratic government had been left to work out its own salvation, Spain would have been progressing happily and hopefully on its way today to a better and better life for its people. As it is, numbers of peasants and workers lost trust and surged over to the other extreme. In the numerous photographs published, this is proven, workers on both sides are seen in the fighting or as prisoners; mere boys are fighting each other; women, too, with the government and insurgents—and Spain is a shambles.

If sides are taken by any country or countries, that must mean international war, besides civil war. Great Britain is showing the way, the only hope to prevent a world slaughter—and war is war—she is rescuing refugees and through the Red Cross is caring for sick and wounded, Fascist and Loyalist impartially, who are in need of such help. All who clamor for support of one or the other in Spain are would-be murderers of countless millions—and of their own people in the first place. Strict neutrality of the democratic countries is the only hope today.

QUESTIONS CHRISTIANITY

To the Editor:—When Christian Imperialists are slaughtering millions of the working class, in their process of predatory war, they pray to their almighty God (both sides pray) to give them victory.

In pointing out the historic facts of the actual development of Christianity precisely as it has infringed on society, in drawing attention to the centuries of witch-hunting, the actual cold-blooded murder of millions of females in the name of Christianity, in describing the economic reasons for the bloody centuries of male butchery known as the holy Crusades, we are invariably met by those of the faith with the statement that this is not real Christianity, that Christianity consists of the good, the beautiful, and the truth, which statement arouses the idea, that there must be at least two Christianities, a real and an unreal, which is an absurdity.

All the beautiful abstractions of thought process, and fantastic imaginary beliefs, and faiths in the world cannot wipe out the historic truths, that rivers of blood, untold misery, degradation, and monastic bestiality, have been part of the development of the Christian faith, and in analysis of any phenomena, great or small, if we wish to arrive at the plain truth we must examine all of it, we must include its bestiality as well as its idealistic fantasy.

Lack of understanding and meagerness of experience in mankind in the early beginnings of the race, which presupposes a decidedly undeveloped reasoning ability in the thought process, because man in the primitive state to absorb many erroneous concepts due to ability to understand the world in which he lives, which in turn brought about fear and superstition very much to the surface as a conditioning factor in his thoughts.

This resulted in fantastic notions, which to some degree still influence the activities of the race. Out of these mistaken ideas ultimately arose the idea of gods—gods of every shape, size and color and uses, some having influence in one direction, some in another; changing and varying for many centuries, until Christianity made its appearance, with the super-naturalness of conceptions gaining ground all the time, headed by an imaginary, supreme monster, omnipotent, and a wise, almighty God, and strange as it may seem, an almighty God mysteriously related to the almighty dollar.

C. MADDEN.

NO WINGS

To the Editor:—We are being treated these times to a nice little fable about "the flight of capital" from Alberta. Do those who report that flight now what capital is?

Business blocks, apartment buildings and residences built to let are capital. Can these fly? Money is not capital.

When an Alberta citizen decides to leave that province and takes his fortune along with him he has generally to sell his capital for money, for if money has wings capital has none, it has perforce to remain at home.

But what about capital that is on wheels? If it cannot fly surely it can "run" out of the province. Let us see: coaches, trucks and taxis could easily be moved into Saskatchewan or British Columbia. What would the result of that amount to? The hire of those vehicles, because of the increased number of them in the province they invaded would become cheaper, while their hire in Alberta, where they would be fewer left to compete, would be dearer. The inevitable result would be that either the vehicles that ran out of Alberta would run back again or others would speedily take their place.

Those who speak airily about capital flying away little realize how difficult it is to shift capital from one place to another. In truth and in fact there is, and always will be, a more or less rigid ratio between population and capital, depending, of course, to some extent on the quality, security and progressiveness of the citizenship.

Even if capital were capable of taking wing, it can always be reproduced, as is clearly seen in the event of big fires and other disasters, when new buildings rise as if by magic. Contractors and workmen ask nothing better than to be allowed to reproduce capital, and the earth is full and overflowing with raw material.

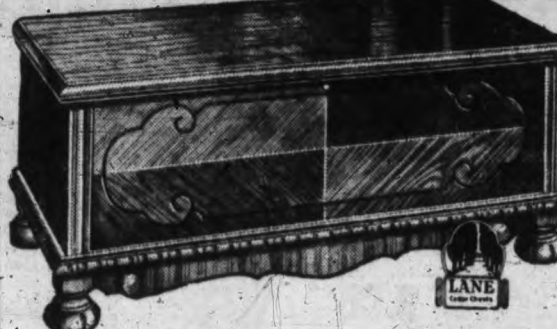

If capital could really take to the air, there are many who would fervently pray to behold a lot of it soaring away into the blue sky, as it would mean more work for them.

Political economy is 'the science which deals with the production, distribution and consumption of wealth, and is perhaps the simplest yet least understood of the sciences. There are but three factors in the production of wealth—land, labor and capital. Capital is that part of wealth which is at the moment actively engaged in the production of more wealth. Wealth is the larger and inclusive term. The hire of land is rent (house rent so-called is not rent at all in the economic sense, it is interest; a rented house being capital to the owner, but the hire of the ground it stands on is economic rent).

passable, as described in Jeremiah 22: "Which have placed the sand for the bound of the sea by a perpetual decree, that it cannot pass it."

Twenty-six hundred years ago, Nahum II predicted the automobiles and similar forms of transportation as being in use just before Christ's return. "The chariots shall be with flaming torches in the day of his preparation; the chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against another in the broad ways, they shall seem like lightning, they shall run like lightnings."

Of the airplanes, Isaiah xxxi 5 says: "As birds flying so will the Lord of hosts defend Jerusalem!"

Twenty-five hundred years ago, Daniel xii 4 prophesied that in the "time of the end," "Many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased"; a fitting description of our high-speed transportation and of an age in which even the higher education is placed within the easy reach of all.

Archaeology and geology give overwhelming proofs of the veracity of the Bible from Genesis to Revelation and recent Biblical scholarship has shown that the books of the Bible contain numeric phenomena which preclude the idea that they could have been humanly conceived: (See Ivan Panin's Numeric Bible, Aldershot, Ontario and our Provincial and City Libraries.)

Yet those who wilfully refuse the light will not be convinced by all the foregoing proofs, of the inspiration of the Bible by the Holy Spirit of God, nor will they believe "though some one rose from the dead," but unto us who believe, the Bible is the power of God unto salvation, unto all who believe in His name, the name of our blessed and soon-coming-again Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ!

L. J. ECKMAN,
40 Wellington Avenue.

Plans to Build Whaling Industry

Washington—Germany plans to re-establish its whaling industry with a fleet that will take from 35,000 to 50,000 metric tons of blubber annually, states a report by the U.S. Department of Commerce at Washington.

Half of the world's supply of blubber for recent years has been consumed by German industry. The newest proposal for a large whaling fleet would restore to Germany its role prior to 1914 when the nation occupied an important place in world whaling activities. The motive behind plans to re-establish the whaling industry is to reduce imports of oil and fats, thus tending to relieve the critical foreign exchange situation.

Tests show that canned strained spinach, peas, tomatoes, and green beans vary in the amount of vitamin C they contain, from year to year, indicating that it is difficult to standardize canned goods on this point.

Saturday League Selects Team For Anscomb Cup Soccer Match

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

AFTER taking part in two six-day bike races at London and Montreal, Doug Peden, Victoria athlete, has no regrets over joining the professional ranks. At least Doug expresses lots of enthusiasm in a letter to the writer from Toronto, where he and Brother Torchy are training in preparation for their coming race at Chicago. In the latter event the two brothers will ride as a team against some of the world's finest pedal pushers.

Doug's letter, in part, follows: "The Montreal race was nothing to write home about. Torchy and I had decided not to ride any three-men races, but as Torchy had only a few hours' actual racing in England and we had never rode together before, we decided the Montreal event would be a good one to try him out. But we were not to be so easily fooled. We also figured it would give us a chance to get used to each other as a team. The boy we rode with was taking part in his first professional race."

"We got along fine until Friday night, when a few things went wrong and we started the last night one lap behind the leading team. We played Torchy's game of trying for first place and first place only, and you know the final result. But that race is history now, and I will find out how we rate with the leading six-day teams when we ride together in Chicago."

"Today it is raining like nobody's business and we have been unable to get out of doors for training. But we hope to be in good condition for the Chicago race. In a six-day race I have found out that a good deal of the riders use the first two or three days to ride themselves into condition. Well, that's about all for this time. Say hello to all my friends in Victoria for me."

The style argument that flared into the headlines when Johnny Fischer, the new United States amateur champion, was benefited by a "break" in defeating Jack McLean of Scotland in the finals is due to another going over this time from the professional side.

The style question was debated so heatedly prior to the United States Amateur that the United States Golf Association decided to feel the collective pulse of the simon-pures to determine the majority attitude. Questionnaires asking the contenders to describe the styles and the effect they had on the various matches were circulated. The returns are being studied by U.S.G.A. officials prior to their annual debate over the question of retaining or abolishing the style from competition in the United States.

Although there is no indication that the controversial subject is on the docket, it is bound to come up for discussion when the United States Professional Golf Association holds its meeting in Chicago, November 10 to 12, just a few days before the P.G.A. tournament at Pinehurst, N.C. Opinion among the mercenaries of golf is "quite divided on the subject of the style."

Inasmuch as the P.G.A. tournament is scheduled for November 10 to 12, it is the only considerable one in which the money players compete for keeps over the match-play route, there will be heated discussion if a style turns an important match one way or another.

The pro game is generally tuned to medal play, in which styles do not figure. A ball on the green which impedes another is putted out or lifted. Even if the ball closer to the hole affects the sighting of the putt and is not in a direct line between the "away" ball and the hole it may be lifted.

BOXING
Miami Beach, Fla.—Amos Tiger, 145, Sapulpa, Okla., outpointed Norman Cohen, 141, Petersburg, Va. (8).
Winona, Minn.—Harvey Woods, 128, St. Paul, stopped Vince McCoy, 133, Omaha (8).
St. Louis—Dave Abad, 135, Panama, and Billy Beauchamp, 137, St. Louis, drew (10).

WRESTLING
Hartford, Conn.—Yvon Robert, 218, Montreal, defeated Stanley Pinto, 210, Manchester, N.H., one fall (Pinto unable to continue).
Camden, N.J.—Joe Cox, 221, Kansas City, defeated Ed Meske, 218, Toledo, two out of three falls.
San Francisco—Alvin Britt, 190, Kansas, defeated Bob Montgomery, 189, New Orleans.

Strong Side to Meet Wednesday League Eleven

Pick of First Division Clubs Will Perform Next Wednesday Afternoon
Four Matches On Tomorrow

To oppose the Wednesday League all-stars in the opening game of the Anscomb Cup series at the Athletic Park next Wednesday afternoon, the Victoria and District Football Association has selected a strong squad. The players to represent the Saturday League were announced today. The Armistice Day match is expected to attract a big crowd.

In goal for the Saturday team will be Louis DeCosta veteran goalkeeper of the Esquimalt club. Goalie for the Inter City League squad last season DeCosta is recognized the peer of local custodians.

For full-backs the team will have Ivan Sweeney, Victoria West, and Wes Harper, Saanich Thistles. This pair should give DeCosta plenty of protection. They are both good tacklers and can kick well.

STRONG HALF LINE
At centre-half will be the clever Roy Barnes, Victoria West. A great breaker-up, Barnes also feeds his forwards well, and is equally as strong on the offense as defence. The wing halves will be Ernie Lorandini, at right, and Glen Robbins on the left. These two are hard tacklers, and can go all out for the ninety minutes.

Lorandini is a member of the Wests and Robbins plays for Victoria City. The forward line is a strong one, and should get lots of goals. All its members are fast and can shoot. On the right wing will be Gordie Bell, Wests, with Scotty Stewart, also of the Wests, at inside right. Scotty Robinson, another member of the Wests, has been selected for the centre forward position. At inside left will be Noel Morgan, Victoria West, while the outside left position will be handled by George Payne, Victoria City.

The substitutes and reserves will be Wally Rowe, Victoria City; Al March, Esquimalt; Ronnie Williams, Saanich Thistles; Eddie Brown, Esquimalt, and John Watt, Victoria West.

GAMES TOMORROW
Teams in the first and second divisions of the Saturday League will be in action tomorrow afternoon. In the first division the Saanich Thistles will meet Victoria City at the Athletic Park and Esquimalt and Victoria West will clash at Bullen Park.

In the second division the Victoria West will play the Saanich Thistles at Heywood Avenue and the Cooperage will oppose Esquimalt at Victoria West Park.

All games will start at 2:30 o'clock. Teams follow:

Rangers Break Training Camp
Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—New York Rangers closed their Winnipeg training quarters yesterday and headed into a season of National Hockey League warfare. They open in Detroit Sunday against the Red Wings, world champions.
Patrick announced after a final drill yesterday he was well pleased with every player's performance here. "Our club looks 40 per cent stronger than the team which left here a year ago," he said.
There was a possibility Frankie Boucher would not appear in Ranger livery until the third game of the campaign at New York. He suffered a broken ankle last summer playing baseball in Ottawa and was doubtful if he was ready to start.

Tanforan Goes After Riders

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—One jockey was suspended and two others received fines yesterday by presiding steward Lloyd McKenny of the Tanforan track for infractions of the rules in races Wednesday.

Billy Neal, apprentice from Salem, Ore., was grounded for the balance of the meeting for using "unfair tactics." Jockeys Noel Richardson, Pocatello, Idaho, and Donald McCune, Cheyenne, each were fined $25 for striking other riders with their whips.

DOMINOES TO OPPOSE CAPS

Senior A Hoop Squads Battle This Evening at High School Gymnasium

A renewal of basketball hostilities between the only two contenders for honors in men's senior A division, Victoria Dominoes and Coach Charlie Morton's Capitals, is on the menu this evening at the High School gym, to head a three-game programme of the Victoria and District Basketball League.

A pair of preliminary tussles are booked. The opener at 7:30 o'clock will bring together Sons of Canada and Regents in an intermediate A match, while the second game will see Trade-A-Take the floor against Liberty Cafe in a men's senior B encounter.

Since their initial meeting with the Dominoes, the Capitals have engaged in several practices and have high hopes of taking the Chapman boys and company into camp.

TURMAN TO PLAY
Reports have been circulating that since the opening meeting the Caps have added a number of new players to their roster. As far as can be learned one new face will be seen doing duty for that club on the maple court this evening. He is Dean Turman, Hoyle-Brown centre and guard of two years ago.

The following will be in uniform for the Dominoes: Chuck and Art Chapman, Carl Coates, Hank Rowe, Roy Taylor, Bert Davies, Austin Webster and Ken Noakes. The Capitals will have the following on hand: Albert "Red" Martin, "Porky" Andrews, Ollie Goldsmith, Ralph Sheppard, Dean Turman, Alex and Ian McKeachie and Harold McLean.

Vancouver Is Hoping to Stage Canadian Lawn Bowling Championship

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—L. C. Jack, secretary of the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association, yesterday announced he had extended an invitation to the Canadian Lawn Bowling Council to hold the first Canadian championship meet here.

The Canadian championships have been under consideration for some time, Jack said, but no definite arrangements have been made and it is not yet known when the first meet will be held.
A team of South African bowlers will arrive in eastern Canada next June for a trans-Canada tour. They will arrive in British Columbia in August.
Charlie Mott, New Westminster, has been named successor to James E. Reid as president of the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association.
His committee is composed of Albert Throver and Jimmy Richmond, vice-presidents; George Watt, official umpire; Bill Cullin, treasurer; L. C. Jack, secretary; and Arthur Turvey, Charlie Smith, Wally Kennair, Charles Leonard and Alex Campbell.
Jack Draper, Nelson, is honorary president and Donald Menzies, Kamloops, honorary vice-president.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

WILLIAM E. MACFADEN SERVED AS A POLICE JUDGE, AT THE AGE OF 21-2 YEARS BEFORE HE BECAME AN ATTORNEY

"DIXIELAND" WAS ONCE ON MANHATTAN ISLAND! OWNED BY A SLAVE-HOLDER NAMED DIXIE, A LARGE PLANTATION ON MANHATTAN ISLAND WAS KNOWN AS DIXIE'S LAND AND CAME TO BE REGARDED AS A "HEAVEN" BY THE WELL-TREATED NEGROES. ANTI-SLAVERY FEELING FORCED REMOVAL OF THE SLAVES TO THE SOUTH WHERE THEY PINED FOR THEIR NORTHERN "DIXIE PARADISE"

NORTHERN DIXIE
I wish I was in de land ob cotton...
But, strange as it seems, the original "Dixie" was not a "land ob cotton!" It was situated on Manhattan Island, New York.
Whether or not the name "Dixie," as applied to the south today, was derived from the kind-hearted northern slave-owner of that name is difficult to ascertain, but it has been conclusively proven that he had a plantation on Manhattan Island in the late eighteenth century known to his negroes as "Dixie Land" long before the south was called "Dixie."
Dixie was forced to send his slaves south at the outbreak of anti-slavery sentiment in the north. It seems quite plausible that these negroes might have lauded their one-time "slave-heaven" on Manhattan Island to their fellows in the south. Thence through the strange evolution which changes words and expressions, it is easily possible that it was thus "Dixie-land" came to apply to the south itself.
Other versions of the name derivation conflict, however. It is believed by some authorities that "Dixie" was a corruption of the name for the dividing boundary between the north and the south, the Mason-Dixon line. Others contend that because in old Louisiana-French $10 bills bore the French word, "Dix," on their backs, Louisiana became known as "the land of the Dixies," and finally "Dixie-land." Obviously, it is rather difficult to determine whether or not it's true what they say about Dixie.

SIX FIXTURES ON TOMORROW

Busy Saturday For Junior and Juvenile Soccer League Elevens

Bays Resume Rugby Campaign Tomorrow

Favored to Beat Scottish in Senior Fixture at Macdonald Park; Wanderers to Meet College; School Game Listed

Fully rested in their pace-setting drive towards the Burnard Cup, the James Bay Athletic Association will go after its third successive victory in the local senior rugby league when the team stacks up against the trailing Canadian Scottish at Macdonald Park tomorrow at 3 o'clock.
The Oarsmen were idle last week, while the Navy handed the militiamen their second set-back, and have had ample opportunity to recover from minor bruises sustained in earlier struggles.
Betting rested heavily in favor of the Bays today, despite the rugged fight the Highlanders put up against the Navy. In the first game of the season the rowing club downed the Scots by a single try, but the Oarsmen's backfield was far from a cohesive unit in that battle.

MUST STOP BAYS' BACKS
The main problem of the kilties should lie in a campaign to stop the J.B.A.A. backs. In the pack, with Bill Wharton hooking, the Highlanders should be able to hold their own, but they have failed to display backfield strength sufficient to equal that of the clever, smoothing-working Oarsmen.
Once again the selectors will be out to look over prospective candidates for the rep team in tomorrow's game. The difficulty of naming forwards is expected to give the committee considerable worry with such a wealth of talent from which to choose.
The Oarsmen are scheduled to use their regular fifteen, with Roddy McInnes playing fullback, Ken Buxton, "Buz" Brown, Ken Fleming and George Langdon on the three-quarter line; Bill Halkett and Wally Slips halves, and Croft, Petticrew, Malr, Rutlan, Tobin, Burns, Simpson and Usher, forwards. Alec Gaunt is listed as reserve.
Minor changes are expected in the Scottish team owing to the illness of some of the players.
Benny McMillan will handle the senior fixture.
In the intermediate division the defending champions, Oak Bay Wanderers, will stack up against Victoria College at Macdonald Park with Alan McMarquand blowing the whistle, while the Navy and the Scottish clash at Victoria High School grounds with Phil Willis in charge.
Brentwood College first fifteen will play Shawinigan Lake at Shawinigan in a game scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock, while the two 125-pound teams from those schools will meet in a match at Brentwood.
Oak Bay Wanderers—Gornal, Ley-Brown, Pearce, Horne, McDonald, McGregor, Murdoch, Cook, Myrdoch, Shepherd, Brown, Stewart, Grogan and Downes.

Schmeling Plans Exhibition Tour

New York, Nov. 6.—Max Schmeling, heavyweight championship contender, yesterday cabled his manager, Joe Jacobs, from Germany he would leave immediately after the Christmas holidays to go on a six weeks' exhibition tour of the southern and western states.
Schmeling is signed to fight Jim Braddock for the heavyweight title early in June.

M.C.C. GETS FINE START

Scores 326 Runs For Seven Wickets in Match Against Victoria

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 6.—Fine battling by Charles Barnett, Gloucestershire, and Joseph Hardstaff, Nottinghamshire, sent the Marylebone Cricket Club touring team away to a good start in its match against Victoria. At the end of the first day's play the English team had compiled 326 runs for seven wickets, Barnett making 131 and Hardstaff 85.

The four-day match started before 7,500 spectators in cool and cloudy weather on a fairly fast wicket. Barnett gave a chance when he had scored eight but after that he maddered the bowling in a decisive fashion. He hit nineteen fours. Hardstaff was also unsteady at the start but later batted confidently. He hit eleven boundaries.

CRUCIAL GRID MATCHES ON

Eastern Clubs Play Important Games Tomorrow; Moose Jaw Defaults

Toronto, Nov. 6.—The football pace quickened today as training was completed through eastern Canada's senior rugby circuits for four crucial week-end games.

Only one "set-up" appeared on the programme; the game between Hamilton Cubs and Sarnia Imperials of the Ontario Union, being figured as a cinch for the Sarnia squad.

In the Interprovincial Union, Toronto Argonauts play hosts to Hamilton Tigers in a first-place battle while the Rough Riders of Ottawa attempt to stampede Montreal Indians at Montreal. Argos and Indians remained slight favorites.

MOOSE JAW DEFAULTS
Canadian Press
Regina, Nov. 6.—Regina's last chance to see the Rough Riders in action went aglimmering last night when word was received Moose Jaw Millers had decided to default the western rugby semi-finals to the Riders.

The Moose Jaw club said that owing to inability to get players out to practice, it had been found necessary to give up the idea of playing at Winnipeg tomorrow as scheduled.

Victoria Featherweight Polishes Off Russ McMillan in Third Round; Referee Hanks Bout; Eddie Ryan Decisions Phil Trudeau in Tame Affair

Taking the offensive from the opening gong to punish his opponent with a savage two-fisted attack, Billy Buxton, Victoria featherweight, scored a technical knockout over Russ McMillan, Seattle, in the third round of the main event of yesterday evening's card at the Esquimalt Athletic Club. The show attracted about 600 fans.

Determined to wipe out the stigma of a previous defeat at the hands of McMillan, the local southpaw lost no time, and in the first round kept the visiting batter on the defence. Buxton clipped McMillan twice with round house right crosses and used his deadly left to punish his opponent in the mid-section.

McMILLAN DOWN
Early in the second round Buxton caught McMillan on the button with a short left and he went down. Rising to his feet at the count of nine the Seattle boy took some more punishment and slipped back to the canvas. He got up without a count. For the third round the referee, McMillan kept his bicycle and at the bell was mighty tired.

Buxton was all set for the kill in the third, and another flurry of punches put McMillan down for another nine count. He got slowly to his feet and Buxton crashed him down again with a right to the stomach. As he rolled on the canvas Referee Roy Baker stopped in and raised Buxton's hand.

The boys fought at 124½ pounds. Most action of the evening was witnessed in the preliminary bout between Freddie Buxton and "Dusty" Jones, Seattle negro. In the first round this pair went at it hammer and tongs. Buxton, appearing in his first pro fight, looked good against Jones, a dancing bundle of energy. The negro packed dynamite in his right hand, but Buxton gave as much as he took in the first two minutes of scrapping.

The finish came suddenly in the second round. Taking advantage of an opening Jones, clipped Buxton on the point of the chin with a solid right smacker, and the local boy went down for a nine count. Jones measured his man and put him down for a six count, and Buxton's seconds threw in the towel. Jones weighed 140 pounds and Buxton 139.

In the six-round semi-windup between Phil Trudeau, Vancouver, and Eddie Ryan, New Westminster, the latter won the decision. This fight produced little action, the boys putting on nothing better than a sparring match. Ryan won the nod on his aggressiveness. They fought at 127 pounds.

In a four-round preliminary George Haslam took the decision from Les Walters. A couple of novices this past gave the fans several laughs, although their star ability was nil.

The opener between Dickie and Jimmy Buxton over three rounds was a draw. The former, weighing fifteen pounds lighter than his brother, put up a fight, showing.

Roy Baker refereed the main event and semi-windup, while Frankie Neal headed the preliminaries. The judges were Bob Vipond and Alex Bain.

Opening Games in Comox Basketball

In the opening games of the Comox District Basketball League played at Courtenay this week the Spiders beat the Webs, 26 to 21; the Comets defeated the Indians, 17 to 15, and the Ranchettes handed the Comox girls a 24 to 8 setback.

St. Louis Squad To Meet Students
St. Louis College and Chinese Students will headline the weekly Sunday school basketball card at the Y.M.C.A. tomorrow evening.
In the opener at 7 o'clock St. Albans will clash with the Y.M.C.A. in the junior section and they will be followed by Crescents and Metropolitan Maroons in the intermediate B division. The Collegians and Students will come on in the feature attraction.

Detroit Scores Only Victory In Opening Major League Games

Easy Goal Helps Champion Wings Defeat Toronto

Get Break in Third Period to Turn Back Maple Leafs 3 to 1

Hawks-Wings Play to Tie

National Hockey League leaders breathed a little easier today. But the tangle which caused all the anxiety still existed and the question of just who owns New York Americans has yet to be decided.

Showing no signs of worry as the battle waged concerning them, Hawks held Black Hawks to a 1 to 1 tie as the season opened in Chicago last night. A crowd of 13,500 did not seem interested in legal angles involving the club, but they gave the struggling orphans a round of applause for their game stand. A much smaller crowd saw Maple Leafs go down 3 to 1 before a last-period drive of Detroit Red Wings in Toronto.

Until the matter is finally settled the club will play as New York Americans Hockey Club, an injunction having been obtained at Albany, Ont., restraining the players from performing under auspices of the N.H.L. governors who declared forfeit the club franchise operated by Bill Dwyer.

For a while it looked as though the champion Wings, who seemed to have a jinx on little George Hainsworth, Leaf goalie last season, had met their Waterloo in Turb Broda. But the charm on the debut of the young westerner broke after a fifty-one-minute life.

A SOFT GOAL

With the score tied and his mates holding an edge on the play, Broda let an easy shot from Larry Aurie's stick slip through his pads seven seconds after Wings had tied the score. When Leafs face Amerks tomorrow night, Hainsworth will be in goal. Not because Manager Conn Smythe has lost faith in Broda, but the Maple Leaf boss had previously decided to alternate the two men until the best wins out. Hainsworth wants one more year in the league, and Smythe may be his chance to prove he is worth it.

Buzz Boll put Leafs out in front just past the half-way mark in the first period when he blazed a shot past Normie Smith on a pass from Bill Thoms. Frankie Finnigan was credited with an assist on the play. After a scoreless middle session, Syd Howe put the champions on even footing, scoring on a play with Bucko McDonald. Seven seconds later came Aurie's "gift" counter, with Pete Kelly winding up the spree in an effort with Wally Kilrea.

There was plenty of action as Hawks and Americans failed to settle their issue in overtime. Allan Shields, fiery defenceman Amerks brought from Montreal Maroons, and Earl Seibert, Chicago rearguardman, earned the doubtful honor of drawing the league's first major penalties when they presented a "brief" during the third period.

All scoring was done in a fast, rough second period. Bill Kendall gave Hawks the advantage when he converted a pass from Louis Trudell after nine minutes of play. It fell to the lot of veteran Harry Oliver to count the tying marker, a rookie, Lloyd Jackson, earning the assist.

ARMISTICE DAY GOLF MEET SET

Large Entry Expected For Second Annual Remembrance Day Tourney

It was announced this week the second annual inter-service Remembrance Day golf tournament for possession of the John Day Cup will be held at the Macaulay Point course next Wednesday.

Frank Whitford occupied the chair at the committee meeting of the Army and Navy Club, and J. C. Rivers was named secretary.

A large entry is expected from various parts of the island, and the first foursomes will tee off at 1:30 o'clock and the rest will follow at five-minute intervals. All services and ex-service men are invited to compete, and are requested to hand in their entries to their club secretaries or to J. C. Rivers at the Army and Navy Veterans, 1001 Wharf Street. A small entrance fee will be charged, which will cover green fees and refreshments. Entries will close Monday night at 11 o'clock. Competitors are asked to make up their own foursomes and to arrange for starting times.

Official handicappers will be Commodore Harry Rochoon, Jimmy Bennett and Frank Whitford. H. Witter will be official tournament steward.

The meet will be eighteen holes medal play, with full handicap allowed. The trophy will be presented in the club house at the close of the meet.

Draws Bead on Poor Fish

'Tis a poor fish, indeed, which wouldn't be lured by the charms of Maurine Kerna of Miami, Fla. When the fishy folk come close enough, the fair mermid, using a harpoon rifle designed by W. M. Edwards, shoots them with a steel arrow propelled by means of stout rubber bands. The arrow is tied to a reel, and once the fish is hit, it is wound in.

U-BOAT WAR HUMANIZED

Canada Among Nations Which Signed Protocol Today in London

Associated Press

London, Nov. 6.—A group of nations today signed a protocol to humanize submarine warfare.

The ceremony, at the Foreign Office, was the first step in an attempt to secure general world adherence.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, Lord President of the Council, affixed their signatures for the United Kingdom.

Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London, signed for Canada and the other high commissioners signed for the other Dominions.

The United States, French, Italian and Japanese ambassadors also signed the protocol, which perpetuates a part of the 1930 London Naval Treaty.

SAFETY FOR VOYAGERS

Under the protocol, submarines in time of war are forbidden to sink a merchant ship until the crew, the passengers and the ship's papers are afforded a safe haven. This does not mean lifeboats, unless land is near and the weather good.

Leads World in Aluminum Supply

Berlin.—Germany is now the greatest aluminum-producing country in the world. Its output of the light metal during 1935, 70,500 tons, was greater than the combined aluminum production of the United States and France.

Germany's vast rearmament programme, particularly in the air, is responsible for the sudden leap in aluminum production.

Germany has no deposits of bauxite, or aluminum ore, and imports all necessary quantities from Hungary, Italy and Yugoslavia. The 1935 bauxite imports amounted to 505,000 tons.

MARKET NOTES

The first shipment of cooking and table figs this season from Smyrna was unloaded this morning on wholesale row.

Lettuce is now being imported from Washington. Only a small amount of local lettuce remains on the market.

A shipment of Almeria green grapes from California has been placed on the retail market. Today grapes are scarce, and it is expected the last shipment of the season will be received from California next week.

Hard cabbage and cauliflower are being received in daily shipments from Vancouver.

A carload of British Columbia dry-belt potatoes arrived here this morning.

Sunderland Will Meet Portsmouth

Last Year's Champions and Present Leaders in English Football Clash Tomorrow; Glasgow Rangers Will Battle Aberdeen in Scottish Feature

London, Nov. 6.—An attractive fixture list is in store for English football enthusiasts this weekend. Eyes of the experts will be focussed on Sunderland, where last year's champion team opposes Portsmouth. If the visiting squad is able to duplicate its victory at Derby it will have gone a long way on the road to the English league championship.

Forging steadily ahead, Portsmouth is out in front in the first division with a three-point lead over Brentford and Grimsby Town, tied for second place.

Sunderland is one of several clubs one point behind, but the northerners are now playing in top gear and not likely to fall before their Roker Park supporters, who have yet to see them beaten this season.

McULLOCH BACK

McCulloch, Brentford's Scottish centre forward, returns to the Londoners' line-up against Birmingham, which is not expected to repeat last season's surprise. Arsenal has fallen on evil days and is perched precariously on the seventeenth rung of the league ladder.

Leeds United is visitor at Highbury tomorrow, and the Gunners are reviving their line-up. Basner, adroit winger, goes to right half with Drake at centre forward. Leeds has yet to win away from home this season.

Stoke City is likely to put up a hot struggle at Derby and another tight struggle will be that between Everton and West Bromwich Albion on the former's ground.

Promoted from second division last season, Charlton and Manchester United try conclusions on the latter's ground at Old Trafford. The Athletic is up among the leaders, while the Mancunians are at the bottom.

A tight struggle is probable, with both clubs fielding teams unchanged from last week.

SECOND DIVISION

Second division games will see Bury, the leader, pitted against Southampton, while great interest will also be taken at the Aston Villa-Tottenham Hotspurs tilt at Villa Park.

NEWS IN BRIEF

H. M. McGivern accompanied W. H. Davies on his monthly visit to the Aged Men's Home on Tuesday, making the donation of pocket money to non-pensioners. Candy was distributed from the Landsberg fund.

The Women's Auxiliary of the C.C.F. will meet Tuesday, November 10, at 3 o'clock at 724 Fort Street. Mrs. S. Lewis will give impressions of the Vimy pilgrimage, and tea will be served. A business meeting will be held at 2 o'clock.

Three speeches were given at the regular meeting of Fortia Society of Victoria High School, on Wednesday afternoon. Rita Nevard spoke on "Kanal Ataturk," Shelia Graves on "Postage Stamps in Canada," and Grace Fraser on "Louise M. Alcott." Harry Hickman judged the speeches.

The Canadian Scottish Inter-mediate rugby team lineup for tomorrow's game will be as follows: Cooper, Buckler, Hamilton, Edmonds, De Macedo, Jephson, Williams, Mylne, Gray, Willard, Carney, Warwick, Holland, Holbrook and Morgan. Spares: Styan, Le Pender, Ruthill and Sargison. All players are asked to be at the Victoria High School grounds at 2:30 o'clock.

As prospects of harsher weather are faced, the city relief office today renewed its appeal for donations to assist needy families in the city in providing clothing, fuel and bedding. Cash is particularly required for the purchase of fuel for relief families during the winter, while supplies of clothing, particularly underwear and shoes, are very much in need. Those able to make donations are requested to communicate directly with the relief office.

A silver watch, a heavy gold ring, another ring, a .32 calibre revolver and a quantity of ammunition were stolen by thieves who yesterday evening entered the home of S. J. Hall, 627 Harbinger Avenue. Mr. Hall reported the entry to police shortly after 8:30 o'clock. Entrance was gained through an open bedroom window from the veranda, the police report said. Premises of the Northern Junk Company were also reported entered last night but there was nothing reported missing.

The programme of the Remembrance Day concert of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, to be held in the branch headquarters, View Street, next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, was released by Percy Simpson, chairman of the ways and means committee, this morning. Contributors will be Miss Dorothy Warren, whistler; F. O. Sweetman, comedy; Doug Parker, song; Mrs. Ridgway, song; Audrey Patrick, song and dance; A. B. Friere, monologue; Rev. E. F. Church, speaker; Reg. Stofor, musical saw; Jerry Elliott, song and dance, and R. E. Smith, piano accompanist.

WILL SPEAK AGAINST WAR

Spanish Government Officials Arrive Here Sunday; Reception at Empress

Hon. Marcelino Domingo, president of the Republican party of Spain, and Senora Isabella de Palencia, Spanish ambassador-elect to Sweden, accompanied by A. A. McLeod, national chairman of the Canadian League Against Fascism and War, will arrive here Sunday afternoon and speak at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium in the evening.

Members of the Legislature and civic officials will welcome the Spanish delegation at a reception at the Empress Hotel at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Senora Palencia, who is Spanish delegate to the League of Nations Assembly, and a deputy to the Cortes, translates for Marcelino Domingo, who speaks little English. Mr. Domingo was formerly Minister of Education in Spain.

Funds raised by the delegation will assist in providing material for the medical unit in Spain of the League Against Fascism and War, of which Dr. Bethune, former chief surgeon of the Montreal General Hospital, is head.

A. A. McLeod, chairman of the Canadian League, spent several weeks in Spain last summer investigating Premier Franco and other officials as chairman of the Canadian delegation to the Brussels Peace Conference.

The meeting at the Chamber of Commerce will start at 8:30 o'clock.

HUNGER FOR POETIC EXCITEMENT

The world still wants excitement of poetry, but it is getting it from machines, by going fast. If poets could feel that they were wanted by their generation, they could be stirred to great heights.—John Massfield, poet laureate of England.

Bishop to Lead Public Service

Rev. H. E. Sexton, D.D., Bishop of Columbia, will give the address at the annual Remembrance Day afternoon service at Christ Church Cathedral at 3 o'clock on Sunday.

All ex-servicemen, women and war widows are specially invited, whether they belong to any organization or not. They are invited to bring their families and to sit where they like as the number of reserved seats has been much reduced.

SYMPHONY IN FINE CONCERT

Capacity Audience Loud in Applause For Seattle's Great Orchestra

By G. J. D.

A capacity house, unbounded enthusiasm and tumultuous applause, were all indicative of the high esteem held by a musical Victoria towards the Seattle Symphony Orchestra and its conductor, Basil Cameron. The concert given by the orchestra at the Royal Victoria Theatre yesterday evening proved one of the most brilliant in past seasons, and each of the five numbers was followed by veritable storms of applause.

The conductor and members were many times compelled to acknowledge these several manifestations of approval.

The opening number, Mozart's last symphony, the "Jupiter" in C major, that seems to convey the composer's life's struggle and anguish over, was charmingly delicious, was emotional.

The Andante was beautiful in tone, balance and responsiveness, in which the muted strings, as if breathing the soul of peace and contentment, the dainty beauty of the Minuet, and the Finale, Molto Allegro, the master climax of the work in spite of its technical difficulties, was a glorious achievement of this "orchestra of virtue."

BRILLIANT PIANIST

Saint Saens' Piano Concerto No. 2, in G minor, followed. Vancouver has reason to be proud of its distinctive and brilliant pianist, Barbara Gustave, who enhanced an appearance here she made some season ago, and, naturally enough, in one so absorbing a capacity, deftness of finger, charm of personality and well-regulated, requisite spirit, displayed in the work's abounding pianistic passages with the orchestra, a fluent technique, rare precision and clarity.

The consummate musician well deserved the ovation accorded her. Conductor Cameron in the conventional "Academic Festival Overture" succeeded eminently in making Brahms come to life. At no time was the music pedantic, or was it the creation of "a bearded bore." The whipping of his forces with artistic eclecticism was also a triumphant performance.

Debussy's remarkable Prelude, L'Après-Midi d'un Faune, whose principal theme is given by the flute, taken up by the horn (Leslie Davis), by the oboe (a charming player is Whitney Fustlin), and clarinet in dialogue, were admirable indications of the excellent material of the orchestra's wood-winds. The delicious individual style of instrumentation gave great pleasure. The enveloping colour and characteristic "Italian Caprice," by Tchaikovsky, proved a glorious conclusion. Loud applause followed, which lasted for some minutes. Basil Cameron, extending his hand to the excellent concert master, Theodore Anderson, while the players stood bowing again and again in acknowledgment.

The concert was a brilliant success, the audience dispersing with outward signs of their enjoyment and enthusiasm.

AUTO PLANT STAFF TO GET $4,000,000

Detroit, Nov. 6.—K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler Corporation, announced today that the automobile manufacturing firm will distribute a $4,000,000 bonus among 67,000 employees during the week of December 14.

It will be the third distribution of extra compensation the concern has made to employees this year. Their total, Keller said, will be $8,300,000 in excess of regular wages.

The bonuses are based on length of service, with $2 being added for each year above ten years. The minimum amount that any employee eligible to participate in the December distribution will receive is $50, Keller said.

FIRE CHIEF ALEX MUNROE

My Boyhood Ambition

A Doctor

"My ambition as a youth was to join the medical profession, but when you are brought up from boyhood on a farm in North Scotland you don't get many opportunities to realize your ambition," says Chief Alex Munroe of the fire department.

"I have always leaned toward the medical profession and I think I had my life to live again I would do what I could to achieve my original boyhood ambition.

"I first took a job with the city fire department by chance in 1911. There was a vacancy in the department and I shifted my place from another branch of the civil service. I joined with thirteen others at the time of the reorganization under Chief Davis.

"I have no complaint against my present position, despite the fact that I might go in other directions if I started again," he says.

END ARGUMENT ON CITY LAW

Court Reserves Judgment on Validity of Legislation For Cows

Argument on the validity of the city's cow-by-law was concluded in the City Police Court this morning and judgment in the case was reserved for a week by Magistrate Henry Hall.

A. J. Patton and F. R. Leighton presented the defence for five persons charged under the by-law which prohibits the keeping of more than two cows on a lot in the city.

C. L. Harrison presented the argument in defence of the by-law.

Mr. Patton concluded his unfinished argument today with brief reference to the powers given the city under the Municipal Act. He contended the by-law was ultra vires because it extended beyond the powers given the city.

Mr. Leighton contended if the by-law was not ultra vires it was divisible and therefore improperly drawn. The three clauses of the by-law had no relation to each other, he said. Mr. Leighton also argued the by-law was oppressive and gratuitous and that the presumption was rebuttable. It discriminated between a man making a living out of keeping cows and a man who carried on the business as a sideline.

After a number of references to eastern cases, which he used to answer the argument of opposing counsel, Mr. Harrison said the city had direct legislative power to carry out the provisions set out in the by-law.

Realtors Enter Lumber Dispute

Committee of Real Estate Board to Consider Sooke Timber Sale

A special committee will be appointed by the executive of the Real Estate Board of Victoria to appear before the Legislature, and, if they deem it advisable, to oppose the private bill for the granting of power to the city of Victoria to sell timber on the Sooke watershed.

The decision was reached at today's luncheon of the board after J. O. Cameron had told members that he considered the proposition a "terrible" one, and that all citizens should rise in protest against it.

Mr. Cameron said the principal objection of lumbermen was to the fact that the timber was to be cut at all on an area of land which was vital to the city's water supply, and he pointed out that the city had for twenty years kept guards on the land to keep people off, and that now it was proposed to permit the area to be overrun by loggers. He added that the soil would become eroded and springs and streams dry up as they had done under similar circumstances at Kapoor.

The second objection, he said, was the low figure at which the sale had been made. He pointed out that on identical property his own company had sold poles for prices ranging from 3 to 7 cents, while the city was asking only 1 and 1 1/2 cents per foot on logs of various sizes.

He also objected that sufficient time for investigation of the property had not been allowed, so that only one tender had been received.

"I am not charging that there is anything wrong with the City Council or the city engineer," said Mr. Cameron. "It is simply that they do not understand."

The motion for the appointment of a committee was put forward by James Forman and seconded by A. J. D. Pemberton.

The Victoria Social Credit Association will meet this evening in the Women's Institute rooms, 635 1/2 Port Street, at 8 o'clock. W. D. Todd will speak on "Dividends." Mrs. A. H. Dale will also speak. Miss Emily Keeping will sing.

Obituary

DAVID ALLEN
 The death occurred at his home, 821 Caledonia Avenue, yesterday evening of David Allen. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

ELIZABETH SINCLAIR
 Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Sinclair of Seven Oaks, who passed away suddenly on Wednesday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.15 o'clock at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

MARY E. DAVIES
 The funeral of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Davies, wife of David P. Davies, who passed away Thursday morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, will take place on Monday, November 9, at 1.30 o'clock, the cortege leaving the Sands Mortuary at 8.45 o'clock, and fifteen minutes later mass will be celebrated in Our Lady of Peace Church, Old Esquimalt Road, by the Rev. Father A. B. Wood. The remains will be laid to rest in the Ross Bay Cemetery.

FRANK J. WEBSTER
 Word was received of the death in Fort Angeles on Tuesday of Frank J. Webster, formerly of Victoria, after a brief illness. Mr. Webster was a resident of this city for many years, being employed as a motorman with the B.C. Electric Railway until he left for Fort Angeles fifteen years ago. He was a member of the Young Men's Institute here. He is survived by his widow and one son, Frank J., in Fort Angeles, two sons and one daughter, Sam, Bert and Lucy, in Seattle, and two daughters, Agnes, in Los Angeles, and Josephine in San Francisco. Funeral services will be held in the Queen of Angels Catholic Church in Fort Angeles tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

JOHN SHEPPARD
 John Sheppard, a resident of Victoria for forty-six years, passed away this morning at the family residence, 682 Superior Street, aged eighty-three years. Mr. Sheppard was born at Holland Landing, Ontario, and was a pioneer resident of Winnipeg before coming to Victoria, being a life member of the Winnipeg A.P. and A. M. He is survived by his widow at the family residence, and two brothers, Archibald Sheppard residing in Velano, California, and George D. Sheppard of Stony Beach, Sask. also one grandson attending McGill University.

The remains are resting at the Thomson Funeral Home from where the funeral will take place on Monday, November 9, at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Notes of the Legislature

The House will not sit tomorrow.

Herbert Anscomb, Victoria Independent, opened his speech yesterday by announcing that it was Guy Fawkes day, but the government need not be afraid because he was not going to blow up the Parliament.

Then, in the middle of his speech, just as he was thundering but criticism at Mayor McGee of Vancouver for spending lavishly while announcing from the housetops the city was bankrupt, the lights of the chamber went out. Continuing in the dark, Mr. Anscomb said: "Well, I've put out the government's lights I can feel truly successful." There were loud titters in the galleries.

The fisheries committee, under S. S. McKee, Liberal, Point Grey, organized this morning and arranged to hear a talk on the province's fisheries from George J. Alexander, assistant commissioner of fisheries, on Friday, November 13.

COUNCIL WILL MEET MONDAY

Final Passage of C.P.S. Sale By-law Scheduled at Session

Ratification of the C.P.S. sale by-law, which conveys the mill property back to the Canadian Puget Sound interests, is expected to be given by the City Council at its meeting on Monday afternoon.

While the meeting will be called mainly to accelerate re-establishment of the mill, a report is expected at the meeting on the gathering of city representatives and delegates from outside municipalities held Wednesday evening. At the latter meeting delegates were asked to recommend to their respective councils the formation of an inter-municipal committee to consider problems of joint interest.

A report may also be given by the legislative-committee on matters to be brought before the provincial house at the present sitting.

Routine business will include the presentation of a letter from the school board suggesting the city devote some of the residue of its $100,000 loan project funds to surfacing the Oaklands School tennis court and fence work there. The work would cost $400, the letter said.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Smith Deasy, who passed away Tuesday in St. Joseph's Hospital, will take place tomorrow morning, the cortege leaving the Sands Mortuary at 9.50 o'clock. Ten minutes later mass will be celebrated at St. Andrew's Cathedral, and the remains will be laid to rest in the family plot, Ross Bay Cemetery.

Rusts Improve Cotton Picker

Machine Now Strips Unopened Bolls and Salvages Dropped Pickings

Washington, Nov. 6.—A much-improved, more efficient cotton picker is revealed in two U.S. patents (Nos. 2,058,513 and 2,058,514) just granted here to the famous Rust brothers, Mack D. and John D. Rust of Memphis, Tenn., whose invention and testing of a cotton-picking machine to do the work of a hundred human pickers, recently stirred the country.

The new cotton picker described in the patents, strips cotton even from the unopened bolls of the cotton plant. It has a "mechanical cleaner" on it, which salvages any "dropped cotton." It is more compact so that it can get between narrow rows of cotton plants.

It has a device for directing and manipulating the cotton plants so that the picking spindles will strip the plants for the maximum amount of cotton. It can be operated at maximum speeds to suit the type of field being picked. The faster the machine moves the faster the pickers pick. It does not clog up or jam.

These are some of the advantages which are claimed in the patents for the newest Rust brothers' cotton picker. Mounted on a tractor, it consists of two picking units, one on each side of the operator, so that when the machine moves down the field it straddles two rows of plants at a time, picking them simultaneously. Just as the cotton plants enter the throats of the picking units, they are grabbed between the jaws of a boll crusher. This bursts any unopened bolls to expose their fleshy cotton to the picking spindles.

Then into the tunnels of the pickers proper pass the plants where a screen cylinder guides them into intimate contact with moist, rapidly whirling spindles, which, like hungry fingers pick the cotton from the bolls. As the tractor continues to move over the rows of cotton, the cotton-laden spindles move out of the tunnel to be stripped of their cargo, while stripped, remounted spindles take their place. New cotton plants pass into the throat of the tunnel while the picked plants make their exit.

To "clean" any cotton that may drop off the pickers, are two separated troughs between which pass the plants. With this new feature, cotton cannot spill over onto the ground. Instead, it drops into the troughs, where "sweepers" carry it to suction pipes, which suck the cotton up and send it to huge bags.

New Alloy Is Now Discovered

Tokio.—An alloy that shrinks when heated has been developed by Dr. H. Masumoto, professor at Tohoku Imperial University, Sendai, Japan. The invention is a continuation of "super invar" and "stainless invar." Application for patent has been filed, but production cost of the new alloy is so high that there is little opportunity for wide application.

"Invar" is an alloy containing about 36 per cent nickel. It has a very low thermal expansivity at ordinary temperatures, or more specifically a mean co-efficient of linear thermal expansivity of one-millionth per degree Centigrade between 0 degree and 40 degrees Centigrade.

"Super invar," invented by Dr. Masumoto in 1932, contains 30 to 32 per cent nickel and 4 to 6 per cent cobalt. The expansion co-efficient of this alloy has been proved to be zero at 68 degrees Fahrenheit.

Metals of small thermal expansivity or desirably a metal that shrinks when heated are required for the purpose of temperature compensation in engines, clocks and watches, liquid air-plant and refrigeration machinery and other mechanical apparatus whose normal function is affected by internal or outside temperature changes.

F.O.E. LEADER COMING HERE

J. W. Bryan Jr., Bremerton, to Visit Eagles This Month

J. W. Bryan Jr., prosecuting attorney of Bremerton, and Grand Trustee of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will visit the Victoria Eagle on Wednesday, November 18, it was announced this week at the regular series meeting.

Most of the evening was devoted to social activities, with the Eagles acting as hosts to cribbage and billiard teams from the Army and Navy Veterans. The cribbage tournament resulted in a tie, while the Eagles won the billiards by thirty-seven points.

The social period which followed the games was presided over by Past Grand Trustee Frank LeRoy and music was contributed by Curley's Harmonious Harpists, Frank White, piano accompanist, and Jack Rivers and Mr. LeRoy, vocalists.

Those in charge of arrangements were: Dr. Hugh Clarke, John Ballenger, Ted McAvoy, Angus McKay, J. R. B. Graham, P. Babcock, A. Flynn, C. O'Brian, D. Eder, P. Cain, A. Hampton and George Rex.

Bacteria Reveal Source of Breezes

La Jolla, Calif., Nov. 6.—Weather men studying the origins and migrations of air masses may have to and bacteriology to their other techniques if it is given to a suggestion by Drs. Claude E. Zöbel and Helen M. Mathews of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography here. They have conducted quantitative studies on the proportions of land and sea bacteria in breezes blowing both off-shore and on-shore.

Land breezes carry preponderant numbers of soil bacteria, they found, while breezes from the sea have a higher ratio of salt water organisms. Not more than 5 per cent of soil bacteria can live in a salt water medium. While a somewhat larger proportion of oceanic bacteria can survive living conditions like those of inland soil, a large ratio of such organisms would seem to indicate that it had traveled over the sea.

Drs. Zöbel and Mathews present their results in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

An Extra

A minister, staying the night at a hotel, found his boots had been accidentally burned during the night. The manager professed in his apologies offered to replace the boots or give him a cheque.

The minister decided to have the cheque, and stated that the boots had cost him $7.50.

The manager proceeded to fill up the cheque, when the minister exclaimed: "Stop, I got them soled three times."

Armistice Day Ceremony Plans

Full Civil and Military Honors Will Be Given Before Cenotaph

The memory of those who laid down their lives in the Great War will be honored with full religious, military and civil ceremony at 11 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, November 11, at the Cenotaph, Parliament Square.

The service will be conducted by Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop of Columbia, and will be attended by Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber, Premier T. D. Pattullo, the acting mayor, the City Council and the reeves of the surrounding municipalities.

The two minutes' silence at 11 o'clock will commence with the firing of a gun by the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade, R.C.A. The firing of a second round will conclude the period of silence. The Fifth Brigade trumpeters will sound the Last Post and Reveille.

Music for the service will be played by the Canadian Legion Band. The 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, will furnish the duty band.

HELL WILL TOLL

From 10:45 until 11 o'clock, King George V, the tenor bell of Christ Church Cathedral, will toll at intervals of twenty seconds.

All ex-service men will fall in on Broughton Street, between Douglas and Government Streets, at 10:15 o'clock, wearing medals, decorations, poppies and muffs. They will be under the command of Lieutenant-General Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., and will move on at a time to be announced later.

Space will be reserved at the Cenotaph for the women's auxiliaries of ex-service men's units, members of the I.O.D.E., the Girl Guides and Boy Scouts, while a number of chairs will be provided for disabled men.

Following the ceremony at the Cenotaph, units will march past the Lieutenant-Governor as a saluting base on Government Street near the Empress Hotel.

SOOKE

Sooke, Nov. 6.—The Sooke Community Association announces that the drive for additional funds among the members has been most successful, over $600 having already been subscribed. To ensure completion of the hall by the early part of the new year it was necessary to secure a similar amount.

The monthly meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. K. Oranigan Tuesday evening. Mrs. K. Oranigan was in the chair. To raise money for the Christmas free fund it was decided to hold a card party in the Sooke Community Hall November 25.

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Holy Trinity Church was held at the home of Mrs. J. Bowen-Colluthurst Wednesday afternoon. Arrangements were made for a court ward, card party and stall of needlework to be held in the Sooke Community Hall, November 16. Rev. H. M. Bolton acted as chairman for the election of officers, the following being re-elected: Honorary president, Mrs. H. M. Bolton; president, Mrs. M. Austin; vice-president, Mrs. O. Throup; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. Slack; delegates to the conference, Mrs. Bowen-Colluthurst and Mrs. J. P. Noury; prayer partner, Mrs. S. Devey; cent-a-day secretary, Mrs. Noury.

Members of the Sooke branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.L.C., held their monthly meeting in the Sooke Community Hall Wednesday evening. P. W. de P. Taylor was in the chair. ATOMS SOLVE BIG PROBLEMS

Astronomers Build Mental Model Stars to Simplify Baffling Questions

By ROBERT D. POTTER
Science Service Staff Writer
(Copyright 1936 by Science Service)
New York, Nov. 6.—Many of the problems of astronomy are so big that they must be mentally simplified before astronomers can even start to try to solve them, declared Dr. Henry Norris Russell, Princeton University's professor of astronomy, at the closing sessions of the five founder societies of the American Institute of Physics here today.

Prof. Russell delivered the noted Josiah Willard Gibbs lecture of the American Mathematical Society on "Model Stars."

Showing how astronomers go about simplifying their intricate stellar problems, Prof. Russell chose a typical example.

"What would happen," he asked, "to a large mass of matter left to itself in space?"

"If we could solve this completely, and work out the special case of our solar system in all detail, we would not have to bother with straw-votes or presidential polls. To get something we can handle mathematically, we must take a single body, forget that it is rotating, and forget that the ninety different kinds of atoms of which it may consist may be present in different proportions in various parts—or, to be polite, assume that the material is 'thoroughly mixed.' The problem can then be solved for a 'cold body' which has lost into space all the heat that could possibly be got out of it."

"For a small body of a cubic mile or less, this would be a lump of rock, or solidified gas. For a very large body, as massive as the sun, the matter would be 'degenerate' and very dense. The atoms would be ionized, or deprived of their outer electrons, by the enormous internal pressure. The white dwarf stars, like the companion of Sirius (which is about 30,000 times as dense as water), represent an approach to being 'final condition.'"

"A completely cold body, whatever its mass, cannot be larger than a certain size. This has been calculated by the East Indian physicist, Raman, and Majumdar, as 20,000 miles in diameter, for a mass about one hundredth that of the sun."

"For a body which still contains internal heat, we do not yet have data enough for an exact solution of the problem. Various assumptions lead to different 'model stars,' all of which are probably like the real stars in some ways, and none of them exactly like them."

The source of the energy which stars are continually pouring into space as radiation, said Prof. Russell, is now generally agreed to be caused by transmutation of light hydrogen into heavier elements; with the possibility that the newly-discovered neutrons may also share in a similar building-up process.

"If only we knew in full," continued Prof. Russell, "the laws which govern this process—or set of processes—we could calculate what the stars ought to be like—if we knew what sort of atoms were present in them, and in what proportions. But we know neither of these things yet."

On many fronts, Prof. Russell indicated, astronomy which studies the gigantic things in the universe—the stars, nebulae and super-galaxies—is therefore waiting, paradoxically with patience and hope, for the nuclear physicist to make discoveries of the most minute things in the universe—atoms, the cores of atoms and electrons.

EASIER IN LABORATORY

Can neutrons exist in stellar interiors? Little hope of finding out this question with telescopes. The laboratories of the physicist is a much better place.

"From one standpoint," concluded Prof. Russell, "the business of building model stars may be regarded as highly successful. Starting with the most general principles of physics, models have been constructed which closely represent the properties of stars—not of one sort alone, but practically of all types—and satisfy the conditions of stability. The mass-luminosity relation, and the enigmatical white dwarfs have been explained."

"From another aspect, most of the work is still to do. The analytical problems which remain—such as those presented by zones of convection—can probably be solved, approximately at least, by ingenuity in discussion and assiduity in quadratures. But the physical problems still baffle us. From the nature of the situation no unique solution for the law of energy generation can be derived from a study of the properties of stars as a whole, even if these were known with high precision."

"There is a much better chance of being able to deduce the generation law from nuclear physics, but present knowledge indicates that this is likely to depend on the composition of material in a complicated fashion, so that the problems of steady states and possible evolution of the stars, and of the relative proportions and possible transmutations of the elements within them are likely to be intimately connected."

"We may not live to see the final success, but, when it comes, it will enlarge our knowledge of the universe," Prof. Russell concluded.

GAS MANTLE GOES MODERN

How the old-fashioned gas mantle, which was the main source of illumination before the days when the snap of a switch brought electricity to light the home, has become modernized for scientific research was disclosed late yesterday at the concluding session of the Optical Society of America.

Dr. A. L. Pfund of Johns Hopkins University, who is recognized as one of America's most ingenious experimental physicists, described a Weibach mantle which operates by electricity.

In infra-red spectroscopy, recalled Dr. Pfund, the old-fashioned Weibach gas mantle has been one of the leading sources of radiation for many years.

Dr. Pfund has now taken places of as the Weibach mantle and heated them to incandescence with an arc electrical discharge. One contribution to experimental science is the finding that it is possible to bring variations of spectral distribution by changing the pressure on the system when it is operated in a partial vacuum.

MIDGET ORGAN PIPES DISCUSSED

Time turned back twenty-five years in the report of Dr. A. T. Jones, of Smith College on the theory of the Haskell organ pipe, before meetings of the Acoustical Society of America.

Some twenty-five years ago W. E. Haskell obtained a patent on a stubby organ pipe which had all the depth of tone of its much larger normal variety. The pipe consisted of an open tube of the usual kind with a smaller tube, closed at the top, mounted inside it. Such a pipe gives the overtones that are obtained with an open pipe of a length equal to both the inner and outer pipes. A great saving of space was a practical usefulness of the patent.

No theory of the Haskell organ pipe appears to have yet been published, said Dr. Smith. Working mathematically, the Smith College scientist showed that the observed overtones effect can be obtained if the problem is broken up into three parts: (1) The main tube up to the bottom of the inserted tube, (2) the inserted tube and (3) the main tube that surrounds the inserted tube. For the ease where the inserted tube ends at the top of the outer tube and its area is half the outer tube the mathematical equations reduce to those of a single open pipe of the combined total length.

Wilkinson Road United W.M.S. held their monthly meeting at the Oriental Home on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Allison presiding. In connection with the election of officers, a report was presented by the nominating committee and adopted as follows:

President, Mrs. E. Boorman; vice-president, Mrs. J. Edge; recording secretary, Mrs. H. Npitt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Carl Allison; treasurer, Mrs. John Hoy; stranger secretary, Mrs. G. Jones; temperance, Mrs. W. Allan; missionary monthly, Mrs. Ayrie; bible box, Miss H. Ritz; associate helper, Mrs. Braithwaite; Christian stewardship, Mrs. S. Jones; supply secretary, Mrs. Albert Allison; pianist, Mrs. H. Allison.

Mrs. R. G. Clark gave an address on "Ambassadors for Christ." The solo, "Confidence," was rendered by Mrs. R. Southern, with Miss Marguerite Fringle accompanying. Rev. Chow Ling described the development of the United Church of Christ in China. The Christmas meeting will be held in Wilkinson Road Church.

Onwago T.P.S. of Wilkinson Road United Church held their Hallowe'en social Tuesday evening under the presidency of Beryl Whitehead. Arrangements were made for next week's literary evening under the convenership of Myra Hodgson.

TO MEN AND WOMEN OF ALL AGES—ESPECIALLY THOSE OVER FORTY

—to-day I am feeling as fit as ever!"

Proof of the lasting efficacy of 'Phyllosan' tablets

For years Mr. — had felt the physical and mental slowing-up effects which so often come with middle age. In 1933 he started taking 'PHYLLOSAN' tablets. He felt the benefit within a week. The benefits were lasting. To-day he is "as fit as ever."

READ HIS LETTERS:

THEN—"I had suffered for years. I was constantly worrying, feeling that I was only just squeezing by. I thought I would try 'PHYLLOSAN' tablets. I got a bottle on Tuesday and by the Friday following I could feel the benefit. My friends now say how well I look and I simply say: 'Yes, and I can only thank 'PHYLLOSAN' tablets for it.'"

TO-DAY—"The benefits received from taking 'PHYLLOSAN' tablets have continued, and to-day I am as fit as ever! I have been talking about six tablets a week just to prevent a recurrence of my trouble. I have given your tablets a thorough test and can confirm all that you claim for them."

It is because their beneficial effect is progressive and lasting that 'PHYLLOSAN' tablets have won the unanimous approval of the medical profession and the confidence of men and women all over the world.

If you are run-down, 'nervy' or 'feeling your age' start taking 'PHYLLOSAN' tablets to-day! Take two of these tiny tablets three times a day before meals. Take them regularly. The results will encourage you highly.

'PHYLLOSAN' tablets are prepared according to the formula and under the direction of E. Boerger, M.D., Professor of Medicine at Bern University.

1/4 cup chopped walnuts

Put creamy Crisco, sugar, 1 whole egg and 2 egg yolks and rind in mixing-bowl—then beat. (Crisco is ready-made—it's made to blend instantly with sugar—saves time and armwork.) Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Beat one minute. Bake in 2 "Criscoed" layer cake pans in moderately hot oven (375° F.) 20 minutes. When cool, put together with marmalade and nuts, mixed together. Cover top and sides with fluffy icing and decorate with peeled sections of fresh orange.

Fluffy Icing: Put 2 egg whites, 1 1/4 cups sugar, 1/4 cup water, grated rind of 1/4 orange, 1/4 teaspoon salt—all in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water 7 minutes, beating constantly. Remove from heat. Beat until spreading consistency.

Quake Shuts Big Water Valves

Washington.—No more would earthquakes be accompanied by water spouting from bursted mains and flaming gas hissing from sheared pipes, according to a patent (No. 2,054,583) granted here to S. H. Hansen of Berkeley, Calif., for an earthquake actuated valve.

The valve is intended to shut off the mains at the first earth tremor. Most essential element of the device is a clock-like pendulum which is free to swing, no matter from which direction the earthquakes shock comes.

The pendulum is connected to a latch mechanism, which normally keeps the valve open. When set swinging by a quake, the pendulum trips the latch mechanism, thereby automatically causing the valve to close.

Colony Workers In Alaska Dismissed

Associated Press
Palmer, Alaska, Nov. 6.—The maritime strike along the U.S. Pacific Coast has resulted in the dismissal of 150 construction workers at the federal farm colony here, and only three staff houses will be completed, leaders said.

The colonists' grocery budget was cut 15 per cent and the hardware allowances were eliminated as the Rural Rehabilitation Corporation curtailed activities.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

By DECK MORGAN

Copyright, 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY
KAY DUNN, pretty airplane-stewardess, falls in love with TED GRAHAM, veteran pilot who flies the trans-Pacific route.
Ted has two interests in life—his job and DICKIE, his adopted son, seven years old. When Ted asks Kay to marry him, she fears it is merely to make a home for Dickie, but she agrees.
She does not agree, though, with Ted's theories that marriage, to be successful, must be planned scientifically, just as a plane flight. She is rebellious because he insists her housekeeping must be carried on in the same way, with charts and budgets.

Kay gives a party and Ted, tired and weary, refuses to join the guests. To punish him, Kay impulsively boards the plane for Honolulu next morning. Once on board, she begins to regret her impulsiveness.
In Honolulu, Kay learns there is an outbreak of spinal meningitis at Midway and Ted is piloting a plane bringing serum. Ted arrives, takes off again shortly. Without making her presence known, Kay boards the ship.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIII

The ship was battling its way through the storm, half way to Midway Island, when Kay made her presence known to Ted in the chartroom. She had seen Iliah board the plane and, sensing danger to Ted, had wanted to be near him. She hurriedly bought the heavy black veil and boarded the plane as a passenger. Neither Iliah nor Ted had recognized her.
Ted took her hands. "Kay!" he exclaimed, "what are you doing here?"
"I wanted to be near you," she said simply. "I wanted to explain."
He ran a worried hand across his forehead. "As if I didn't have enough on my mind!" he said.
The navigation officer turned suddenly and barked some figures. The latter took a few steps to the cockpit and repeated the command to the first pilot. A gust of wind at high velocity made the ship rock from side to side. Then rain poured down. Ted came back to Kay with beads of sweat on his forehead. "Sit in the corner there," he said, "and don't talk to me. We're riding the worst storm I've seen in 10,000 hours in the air."

As the storm progressed navigation became increasingly difficult. Shifting high and low pressure areas added drift to the problems of the navigation officer who sat close to Ted in the chartroom. A beam wind of high velocity forced him to change the course.

But the steady, dull roar of the wind and rain endured outside. The radio sets were working properly. The direction finder, used for radio navigation, had a range of more than 1,000 miles. On the other set they were in communication with the ground stations.

At intervals the radio officer brought messages to Ted. Atmospheric conditions were increasingly bad at Midway. The radio station reported that the Mariner's signals were weak. One hour after the storm began the signals from the Honolulu radio station ceased.

Ted sat huddled over the chart and ran a hand through his hair. He knew that, but for this fault in the radio, everything was going well. He barked orders and they were obeyed rapidly. The crew had complete confidence in him.
When the storm showed no signs of relenting, Ted left his post and went back into the compartments. Kay watched him. Some of the passengers were panic-stricken, but Ted's presence seemed to reassure them. He walked from one seat to another, with a word for each person. His calm was ineffable. He was like a mountain of strength.

Iliah sat back in her chair with a cool disdain for the danger. Her long white fingers adjusted the turban about her black hair as Ted came near her. She smiled with the serene mysticism of the east.
"The gyroplot—she is working in the storm," she asked.
Ted laughed. He was glad Iliah was not angry over his refusal to let her see the instrument.
"Not now," he said. "But before the storm it was working perfectly." Suddenly Iliah stood up, and her eyes showed a trace of alarm. She spoke softly. "Tell me the truth," she said. "Are we in danger? Is there a chance of the ship not reaching port?"
"Of course we're going to reach port," Ted said staunchly. "I wouldn't lose the secrets of my gyroplot for anything in the world."
Iliah breathed a sigh of relief and sat down.

But the radio officer came up the aisle just then, his face ashen. "The direction finder's out," he said.
Ted hurried back to the cockpit, waited at the radio officer's side for a few minutes while the latter tried vainly to put the direction finder back to work. A message came in from the station at Midway on the land set.
Ted read the penciled message, and then tossed it down. He spoke to the navigation officer. "Atmospheric conditions bad at Midway. Ceiling zero. Our signals are weak and the direction finder is out! Something must be wrong with the antenna."
The radio officer went up to the sight-hatch to inspect the radio loop. The navigation officer kept his eyes glued to the charts, and did not look up, even as he talked to Ted.

"This changing drift is making navigation difficult. We've got beam winds as well as head winds. We'll have to find a high pressure area, or we'll be lost."

Ted looked at the chart. The Mariner had been following a north-westerly course for approximately 900 miles now. Midway Island should be 400 miles farther to the west.
"If we get off the course in this storm, may Neptune help us!" Ted said. By instinct he looked down into the blackness where the swirling seas lay.

"We can't get off the course!" the navigation officer replied grimly. "We haven't got enough fuel to fly blindly around in the middle of the Pacific Ocean. We're 3,000 miles from the mainland in either direction."

"We'll have to ride in on an improvised beam," Ted said. "Tell the radio officer to try to pick up Honolulu and Midway at the same time and check with me every ten minutes. To find our position, we'll have to triangulate."

Ted went to the radio officer again. The latter turned and said, "I can't get Honolulu at all! Something's gone haywire. But Midway is still coming in."
Ted nodded sternly. "Keep trying. We can't work on one land station with the direction finder out. And we can't do any blind flying in this storm."
He went up to the sight-hatch to have a look at the storm. They were still flying in pitch-black night. He strained his eyes out toward the radio antenna and inspected the loop in the sight-hatch.

Suddenly Ted realized that they were lost over the open sea. He did not know how he sensed the fact, but he did. Something out of his long experience in the air told him as surely as could an instrument.

An hour passed and Ted knew he had aged in that hour. The radio officer still could not make the direction finder work. Ted gave the order to trip down from the 7,000-foot level to a few hundred feet over the surface of the water. With perspiration running off his forehead, he stood in the cockpit and watched the instrument board. One thousand feet. Five hundred feet. Three hundred feet. He ought to have been able to see the waves, but there was nothing but murky fog above and below.
Ceiling zero!

The giant flying boat swerved back up into the skies. He could not chance flying so close to the surface with visibility zero.
The radio officer came running with a penciled note. "The signals from Midway are getting weaker and weaker," he said. "They were stronger an hour ago. And we've lost Honolulu for good."

Ted crumpled the note and flung it to the floor. "We're lost at sea," he said, and then glanced at Kay who had been sitting quietly in the corner, saying nothing.

"Carry on," he said quietly to the navigation officer. Then he came to Kay, took her hands in his. "Don't be afraid," he told her.
Kay stood up. "I'm not afraid, Ted. I'm with you."

She turned when she thought she felt the door open at her back, but she went on talking. "Ted, tell me quickly. Has that woman, Iliah, ever been serious—exceptionally serious—about the details of the gyroplot?"
Ted caught her wrist, alarm in his eyes. "Yes, she has! She's tried to get me to show it to her on several occasions. I thought it was a woman's idle curiosity."

Kay's eyes opened wide. "Ted, I know! I followed her in Honolulu and I've suspected her all along. Last night I saw her with Jack Slade, that renegade aviator in Honolulu."
"That rat!" Ted snapped. "For twenty years he's made a traffic of aviation secrets. He's worked for private firms, for foreign governments."
"Ted, she's after the secret of the gyroplot. She is his accomplice."
The door opened slowly, and a white hand was thrust in. Iliah appeared, the other hand behind her white robe. She bolted the door behind her, and slowly lifted an automatic from beneath the veil. She pointed the wicked little muzzle at Ted.

"You are very clever," she said to Kay. "But you are also amateurish. Keep your hands up," she directed Ted and the navigation officer, who had both stood up, hesitant.

"I heard all you said. Since the ship is lost, I must work fast," Iliah went on. "If I don't, I must know that my work has been well done. The gyroplot!" she said sharply. "Give me the plans quickly."

MURDER CASE UP IN HOUSE

Sloan Says Death For George Brothers Needed To Protect Police Morale

Twelve hours before Richardson and Eneas George, Indian brothers, were hanged at Oakalla for the murder of Constable Frederick Gisborne at Camford Reserve in May, 1934, Attorney-General Gordon Sloan, who personally prosecuted the case, told the B.C. Legislature that execution of the full penalty of the law from these men was essential to protect police of British Columbia in the execution of their duty.

"My firm opinion is that unless the full penalty is exacted no police officer or any other official can go on an Indian reserve in this province in safety," the Attorney-General said.

"Furthermore, the criminal element must be taught that killing of a policeman in the pursuit of his duty must be inevitably followed by the death sentence."

"Any other course can only result in an effect on the morale of the police. And when the police morale is weakened, the criminals become bolder in inverse ratio."

"So long as I hold this office I do not intend to be a party to any move that will encourage murder."

In the last sentence the Attorney-General was referring to the attempt by eight members of the Opposition on Wednesday to have the House ask for a commutation of sentence for the men.

CONDONING MURDER
"It is difficult," he said, "for me to understand these members of the House, who, by their vote Wednesday, condoned a cold-blooded and wanton murder. It could not have been that they were opposing capital punishment on general grounds because they made no attempt to save Charles Russell, also under sentence of death. I do not wish to draw any inferences, but it might be because Russell did not kill a policeman."

The Attorney-General's comments on the George case came after he had reviewed the entire history of the matter, dramatically describing the murder of two police officers, Gisborne and Percy H. Carr at Camford two years ago, while the House listened attentively. He spoke of the two assize trials, the two appeals and the hearings before the Canadian Supreme Court.

REFERENCE TO COURTS
In reference to the two-to split in the B.C. Court of Appeal dismis-ing the second appeal, which had been mentioned by Harold Winch, G.C.F., Vancouver East, moving for commutation of the sentence, Mr. Sloan recalled that Mr. Justice Martin would have granted a new trial.

"The chief justice," he said, "although finding the men guilty of manslaughter, would have allowed them to walk out free men for reasons that are beyond my comprehension."
To show the House the case had been fully investigated by the courts, Mr. Sloan produced the 530-page appeal book of evidence which was used in the higher courts.

Broken Time Ruling Asked

The city relief committee will be asked at its meeting tomorrow morning to establish a ruling governing employment of relief cases in rainy weather.

Under existing conditions the relief men who are required to work out their allowance each month on city projects are frequently scheduled to work on rainy days. They have explained to certain City Hall officials that they turn out to work and are frequently retained for an hour or two and then forced to quit owing to the inclemency of the weather. The relief men are credited only with the hours they have put in at work and feel that the extra expense, in the way of light and fuel entailed by early rising to attend jobs, works a hardship on them.

With the winter weather coming on, prospects of a greater amount of broken time indicated the necessity for a ruling on the question.

Llewellyn Named Deputy Registrar

A change in the staff of the registrar of companies offices at the Legislative Buildings was announced today by Attorney-General Gordon Sloan. M. M. MacFarlane, deputy registrar of companies, will leave the government service to enter private legal practice in Vancouver and he will be succeeded by W. L. Llewellyn. Mr. Llewellyn formerly held the post, but left two years ago to go with a law firm on the mainland.

"We are very pleased to have Mr. Llewellyn back in the service," the Attorney-General said, "and we are sorry to lose Mr. MacFarlane."

An attractive Remembrance Day concert programme is now being arranged by the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, to be held in the clubrooms, View Street, on Tuesday evening, November 10, at 8 o'clock. All members of the branch are urged to turn out.

NOVEMBER 6, 1911
(From The Times Files)
Bishop Stringer of the Yukon arrived in the city Saturday evening and preached yesterday morning at Christ Church Cathedral. His lordship is en route to Dawson, where the headquarters of his vast diocese is situated.

A panther, nine feet seven inches in length, was killed by G. Bates and K. Kershaw of No. 1 firehall, close to the Malahat Lakes, twenty-seven miles from the city, on Friday morning. They were hunting deer.

W. E. Scott, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, returned from Kamloops on Saturday. He has been in attendance at an important meeting of the board of horticulture. An excellent series of short courses on tree spraying was given with good results.

Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., Minister of Militia, who arrived on Saturday evening from Vancouver, accompanied by General Colin Mackenzie, is making his first visit of inspection since his recent appointment in the Borden administration.

George Henry Bowdman of Vancouver and Miss Eunice Callow of this city, were united in marriage on Saturday evening at the First Presbyterian manse by Rev. Dr. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bowser have returned to Vancouver after a short visit in this city.

Ozone Closer in Polar Regions

London.—The stratosphere's ozone layer is closer to earth in the polar regions than over the equatorial portion of the earth. Dr. E. Regener of Stuttgart, Germany, concludes in a communication to the journal, Nature, at London.

Dr. Regener, who is famous for his cosmic ray studies, sent up sounding balloons, which took samples of the air at heights up to eighteen miles and brought them back to earth. At this height there is a deficit of 2 to 3 per cent of the air's oxygen content. Above twelve miles there is considerable variation in oxygen content of different samples. Dr. Regener attributes this to the weather conditions.

The lower ozone layer at the poles is probable, Dr. Regener said, because of the decrease in oxygen content at lower heights over the poles than at the equator and because the greater stability of the atmosphere in the polar regions tends to increase the diffusion of the heavy ozone downward.

Ozone in the atmosphere acts as a barrier to some of the most active of the visible and invisible rays of the sun.

Denton Massey To Speak Here

Toronto M.P. Will Be Heard in Peace Action Week Address

The national council of the League of Nations Society in Canada, in conjunction with other Dominion-wide organizations, is sponsoring a series of public lectures pertaining to the international situation.

A lecture tour by Denton Massey, M.P. of Toronto, has been arranged as part of an organized programme for Armistice week, November 8 to 14, and designated as Peace Action Week.

Mr. Massey, who is recognized as one of the leaders among the younger men in the public life of the country, is visiting the larger centres across Canada and has been engaged to give an address in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium on Monday evening, November 8, on "The Voice of Canada in World Affairs."

Prior to the World Youth Conference in Geneva, to which he was one of the eastern Canada delegates, Mr. Massey spent a month studying economic and political conditions in Sweden. He is a keen student of international affairs and has a thorough grasp of world conditions at the present time. For years Mr. Massey has wielded a strong influence in the best interests of the youth of his own city and is widely known as the founder of the York Bible Class, which has been referred to as being the largest of its kind in the world.

He will arrive in Victoria on the afternoon boat on Monday and will leave again after the night meeting in the Chamber of Commerce for several of the mainland cities, where he has been scheduled to deliver addresses.

Porous Tiles Now Being Made

Zurich, Switzerland.—A new type of porous construction block or tile is going into production at Zurich. It is made by a method like that used for cement, except that gas-forming substances are added to the water.

An important feature of the process is that the specific gravity of the resulting material and the size of the cells can be regulated at will through the quantity of the gas-forming material. Thus it is possible to make extremely light building tiles having a specific gravity only half that of dry wood. Or a heavy block having a weight of 1,300 kilograms per cubic meter can be obtained. A novel feature is that the tiles float on water for an almost unlimited time since the water does not enter the air cells.

The material is known as "Thermisol" and is being made by the Belgian firm of Le Plancher Tubacier of Brussels.

Laurel Hardy At Dominion

Famed Screen Comedians Have Leading Roles in New Picture "Our Relations"

Laurel and Hardy, those two famous comedians of the screen, are to be seen in their latest comedy, "Our Relations," which opened its Victoria engagement at the Dominion Theatre this afternoon.

This picture, which is described as a "laugh hit" is based on W. W. Jacobs' story, "The Money Box."

Lavishness is provided in the scenes on the most complete and palatial pirate ship set ever introduced on the screen. Iris Adrian and Lons Andre portray two beautiful and alluring girls, surrounded by an array of fashionably-gowned women and smart men and waitresses in pirate dress, with fine effect.

Alan Hale as the burly waiter, James Finlayson as the honest engineer and Arthur Houseman as the inebricated errand husband give splendid performances in the novel beer garden. It is the most important cast ever to support the inimitable film comedians.

Harry Lachman, directing, gives Laurel and Hardy an artistic and realistic background that could serve with distinction for a dramatic performance. "Our Relations" is easily rated Laurel and Hardy's funniest and most elaborate production.

Being shown as the second attraction is "You May Be Next," in which Ann Southern and Lloyd Nolan are starred.

Fruit Skin Gas Stops Potatoes

Washington, Nov. 5.—The skins of ripe apples, pears, and hawthorn fruits produce a gas that keeps potatoes from growing. Dr. O. H. Elmer of the United States Department of Agriculture has found.

Dr. Elmer measured a large number of the effects that this gas, produced by the living skin of sound apples, has on potatoes. He found that the respiration of the potato was speeded up, and consequently the activity of all the other processes directly connected with the potatoes' respiration was also increased.

Sufficient concentration of the gas stops potatoes from sprouting, and keeps them well preserved for long periods of time, the experiments show. Chemical investigation disclosed that the unknown gas was ethylene, the gas used in carbide lamps. Interestingly enough, this gas has for some time been used by produce experts to keep citrus fruits while in transit, and to aid in ripening them.

Five Die in Fire

Cambridge, Ohio, Nov. 5 (Associated Press).—Five persons, including two children, burned to death today in a fire that destroyed their one-story farm home here.

There are about 4,000 trained shepherd dogs in Germany used to guide blind people.

PLAZA THEATRE

Frank Capra, that peer of directors, has taken Gary Cooper, Jean Arthur, an excellent supporting cast, a fine story by Clarence Budington Kelland, and a live, intelligent screen play by Robert Riskin and molded them all into a motion picture so superior that there are few superlatives worthy of it. Its title is "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," and is now showing at the Plaza Theatre.

From under Mr. Capra's magic wand has sprung a new Gary Cooper, humorous, amiable, vibrant and winning. He seems to have been injected with the same mysterious fluid that electrified Clark Gable into giving the best performance of his life in Mr. Capra's "It Happened One Night."

Miss Arthur, too, is revealed in all her glory. Her performance can only be described as irresistible. This lovely blonde young lady cast a spell over the audience yesterday. She should be considered an important star from this moment on.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

"Hoorsy for Love," features those popular favorites, Gene Raymond and Ann Southern, and is now at the Columbia Theatre.

Tuneful music and rousing dance numbers by Bill Robinson, Jini Le-Gon, and Maria Gambarelli highlight the plot.

"Great Ziegfeld" Here Tomorrow

"The Great Ziegfeld," which will open at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow, has everything that a great musical picture should have. It has, in the life of Ziegfeld, a most gripping and perfect dramatic story. In its musical numbers, never before produced on such a scale of grandeur, it has many of the most dazzling scenes ever seen in pictures.

In entertainment alone it rates just about 1,000 per cent. First, there are William Powell as Ziegfeld, Myrna Loy as Billie Burke and Louise Rainer as Anna Held.

Then there are Virginia Bruce as Ziegfeld's greatest glorified American Girl, Frank Morgan as his rival producer, Nat Pendleton as Sandow, Reginald Owen as Ziggy's manager, Fannie Brice as herself, Ray Bolger and his amazing dancing feet, Harriet Hector, and herds of the most beautiful girls who have ever smiled from the screen.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Norma Shearer's heart-stirring photoplay "Smilin' Through" now playing at the Oak Bay Theatre presents the unique phenomenon of a star being supported by four other stars. Appearing with Miss Shearer in this renowned picture are Frederic March, Leslie Howard, O. P. Heggie and Ralph Forbes.

In direct contrast is the companion picture in which Laurel and Hardy star in a new and hilarious version of "The Bohemian Girl." While the general theme of the operetta has been retained the work has been adapted to fit the inimitable comedy talents of its stars.

Irregular Trading On Wall St. With Several New Highs

Associated Press
New York, Nov. 6.—While selected stock market issues forged into new high territory for the recovery today, selling of the steel and other recent leaders effectively put the brakes on the post-election rally.

Securities trading trends, however, showed the trading pace to be slower than in the morning. Transfers were around 2,700,000 shares.

Although progressive economic developments helped to buoy sentiment, brokers said some of their customers were not loath to cash in at least part of their profits which had piled up in past weeks.

The downward tilt in the steel's accompanied announcement of wage increases by important companies in this industry. Columbia Steel, a subsidiary of U.S. Steel, started the ball rolling and was followed soon by Bethlehem and Carnegie-Illinois.

A less than seasonal decline in last week's freight loadings failed to stimulate the rails, although the majority were not depressed. Standard Oil of N.J. shares suffered a setback notwithstanding the voting of a 75-cent extra dividend by the directors. There had been talk of a larger distribution.

Corn at Chicago ran up 1 1/2 to 2 1/4 cents a bushel, and wheat was up 1/4 to 1/2. U.S. Government securities pushed ahead, but other bonds were mixed. Leading foreign currencies were down in terms of the dollar.

Three Executed At Oakalla Today

Ennes and Richardson not only knew they faced the end, but they knew why, Mr. Silva-White said afterwards.

"Of course, in the manner of Indians, they gave no visible expression of concern," he added.

Father Sutherland said Ennes quite understood, but showed no emotion. "Russell made his peace with God," said Major Stewart.

BUMAL ON RESERVE
The bodies of the George brothers are being taken back to the Nicola Valley by Mr. Silva-White. They will be buried in Potatoes Bluffs, a reserve near Canford, where Constable Gishourne and Provincial Constable Percy Carr were beaten to death. The body of Russell was claimed by his family. Richardson was forty-three years old, Ennes thirty-eight, and Russell was twenty-four.

ELIAS TO QUIT
Today's executioner, Arthur Elias, now sixty-seven years old, told newspapermen he contemplated relinquishing his work next year.

Today's was the second triple execution in British Columbia history, both coming second in number to a quadruple execution on January 31, 1931. On that day Archie, Charlie and Allen McLean and John Hare were hanged for the murder of a provincial constable near Kamloops. The four shot the officer when he pursued them for horse stealing.

Today's executions climaxed crimes of midnight killing of two police officers more than two years ago, and of blazing guns in a bank robbery here last January.

On May 23, 1934, Constable F. H. Gishourne of the Dominion Indian Department, and British Columbia Police Officer Percy Carr went from Merritt to the Canford Reserve to arrest Ennes George, wanted for the alleged slaying of his wife. There was a fight, and the bodies of the two policemen were recovered several days later from the Nicola River.

The four Indians were arrested, but Joseph was dead from his injuries and there was no way of communicating the charge to him that he could understand.

Ennes, Richardson and Alex George were tried at the Vernon Assizes and sentenced to death for the murder of Gishourne. They got a new trial from the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

In the meantime Joseph George had recovered from deafness and the four brothers were tried in Vancouver, October, 1935. Joseph was acquitted, but the other three were found guilty with a strong recommendation for mercy.

Stuart Henderson of Victoria, their counsel, continued the fight, but their appeal to the British Columbia Court of Appeal failed in an evenly divided court and further appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada by Mr. Henderson likewise failed. Alex's sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

RULING AWAITED
Russell was the fourth death which has followed last winter's bank holdup. Another, Earl Dunbar, is under sentence to be hanged November 27 pending decision of the Supreme Court of Canada on his appeal for a new trial. He was to have been hanged today but was reprieved.

On January 15 last William H. Hobbs, teller, was shot through the throat and Manager Thomas Winsky through the left arm when bandits held up a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Vancouver and escaped with $12,000. Hobbs died next day. Russell and Dunbar were arrested. On January 22 George Lawson and Jack Hylop, who also were charged with the murder, shot themselves to death in a Vancouver rooming house when they were surrounded by police.

Battleship-Plane Tests Are Widened

British Defence Committee Reports Findings So Far Show Navy Must Have Capital Ships Despite Big Gains of Bombers

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 6.—The battleship versus bomber controversy remains basically unsettled, according to the report of a sub-committee on imperial defence published yesterday.

The report emphasizes the necessity of further exhaustive experiments, but says that on the basis of present knowledge the battleship appears an essential part of a navy operating on the high seas.

The sub-committee consisted of Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for Co-ordination of Defence; Viscount Halifax, Lord Privy Seal; Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, Dominions Secretary, and Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade.

NOT INVULNERABLE
The Admiralty does not claim battleships are invulnerable to air attack, says the report, but that modern improvements in the protection of anti-aircraft gunnery make them at least no more vulnerable to bombing than to gunfire. Value of anti-aircraft fire, however, is most difficult to estimate on the basis of present experiments and further trials are necessary.

It is estimated that the capital cost and upkeep of a battleship over its normal life is equivalent to that of forty-three medium bombing planes. The report draws attention to the necessity of protecting naval bases against concentrated air attack.

BATTLESHIP STILL NEEDED
A summing up of information available at present has led the sub-committee to believe the day of the battleship is not over and that to cease building them would lead to grave risk of disaster.

No details of British tests are given, but the appendix gives published results of United States tests on the battleships New Jersey, Virginia, Washington, and the Ostrander, a former German warship, and quotes the United States official conclusion that battleships are still essential.

LOADING WHEAT
Nearly 2,000,000 bushels of wheat are now being loaded in Vancouver for the United Kingdom and the continent. The grain will be carried in fourteen ships, the Rokus, a Greek ship, with 261,338 bushels, carrying the largest cargo. She will come to Victoria for lumber after completing on the mainland.

The Washington, a French ship, and the Norwegian motorship Brim, are now being loaded in Vancouver for the United Kingdom and the continent. The grain will be carried in fourteen ships, the Rokus, a Greek ship, with 261,338 bushels, carrying the largest cargo. She will come to Victoria for lumber after completing on the mainland.

Some of the fourteen wheat ships, it is stated, were to have also loaded general cargo in United States ports, but on account of the maritime strike the extra space has been made available for more wheat.

Engineer Tells Of New Bridge
The new bridge, connecting the Island of Orleans, in the St. Lawrence, with the mainland was described briefly by P. L. Pratley of Montreal when speaking this week before the Victoria branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

"Spanning the north branch of the St. Lawrence River, this highway bridge provides the only means of continuous communication between the Island of Orleans and the mainland," Mr. Pratley said. "It connects the coast road of the island with the lower Quebec road near Montmorency Village. The bridge was built by the Quebec Government as part of a programme of public works undertaken as a measure for unemployment relief, and for this reason, the construction was not hurried, but was spread over a period of four years, from 1931 to 1935, being opened early last July."

The bridge work consist of two long approaches over shallow water and the main channel crossing. "The Federal Department of Marine required the maintenance of an unobstructed fairway of 600 feet wide with a maximum clearance of 105 feet above high water, and an extensive investigation of the merits of different styles of structure led to the adoption of the suspension type as being the best adapted for economy, foundation conditions, simplicity of erection and a good appearance."
